From the Gentleman's MAGAZINE, for April, 1752.

MANY Inſtances might be given of the wonderful Force of inward Compunction and Horrors, that ſometimes poſſeſs a guilty Mind, and are awakened there by the moſt unexpected Circumſtances.

I dare ſay, Sir, That your Acquaintance with Hiſtory and the World, will ſuggeſt to you many Examples of this Kind, in which it muſt be own'd, that the Hand of Providence is very conſpicuous. I beg Leave to mention one, becauſe it is a true Story, and happened in a neighbouring State not many Years ago.

A Jeweller, a Man of good Character and conſiderable Wealth, having Occaſion, in the Way of his Buſineſs, to travel at ſome Diſtance from the Place of his Abode, took along with him a Servant, in order to look after his Portmanteau. He had along with him ſome of his beſt Jewels, and a large Sum of Money, to which his Servant was likewiſe privy. The Maſter having Occaſion to alight on the Road, the Servant watch'd his Opportunity, took a Piſtol from his Maſter's Saddle, and ſhot him dead on the Spot. Then riffling him of his Jewels and Money, and hanging a large Stone to his Neck, he threw him into the neareſt Canal. With his Booty he made off to a diſtant Part of the Country, where he had Reaſon to believe that neither he nor his Maſter were known. There he began to trade in a very low Way at firſt, that his Obſcurity might ſcreen him from Obſervation, and in the Courſe of a good many Years ſeemed to riſe, by the natural Progreſs of Buſineſs, into Wealth and Conſideration, ſo that his good Fortune appeared now once the Effect and Reward of his Induſtry and Virtue. Of courſe he counterfeited the Appearances ſo well, that he grew in great Credit, married into a good Family, and by laying out his hidden Stores diſcreetly, as he ſaw Occaſion, and joining to all a univerſal Affability, he was admitted to a Share of the Government of the Town, and roſe from one Poſt to another, till at length he was even choſen chief Magiſtrate. In this Office he maintain'd a fair Character, and continued to fill it with no ſmall Applauſe both as Governor and a Judge; till one Day as he ſat on the Bench with ſome of his Brethren, a Criminal was brought before them, who was accuſed of having murdered his Maſter. The Evidence came full, the Jury brought in their Verdict, that the Priſoner was guilty, and the whole Aſſembly waited the Sentence of the Preſident of the Court (which he happened to be that Day) with great Suſpence. Mean while he appeared to be in an unuſual Diſorder and Agitation of Mind, his Colour changed often; at length he roſe from his Seat, and coming down from the Bench, placed himſelf cloſe by the unfortunate Man at the Bar, to the no ſmall Aſtoniſhment of all preſent. You ſee before you, ſaid he (addreſſing himſelf to thoſe who had ſat on the Bench with him) a ſtriking Inſtance of the juſt Reward of Heaven, which this Day, after thirty Years Concealment, preſents to you a greater Criminal than the Man juſt now found guilty. Then he made an ample Confeſſion of his Guilt, and of its Aggravations, particularly the Ingratitude of it to a Maſter who had raiſed him from the very Duſt, and repoſed a peculiar Confidence in him; and told them in what Manner he had hitherto conceal'd himſelf from publick Juſtice, and how he had eſcaped the Obſervation of Mankind by the ſpecious Maſk he had wore. But now, added he, no ſooner did this unhappy Priſoner appear before us, charged with the ſame Crime I was conſcious of myſelf, than the cruel Circumſtances of my Guilt beſet me in all their Horror, the Arrows of the Almighty ſtuck faſt within me, and my own Crime appeared ſo atrocious, that I could not conſent to paſs Sentence againſt my Fellow Criminal till I firſt impannelled and accuſed myſelf. Nor can I now feel any Relief from the Agonies of an awakened Conſcience, but by requiring that Juſtice may be forthwith done againſt me, in the moſt publick and ſolemn Manner, for ſo aggravated a Parricide. Therefore in the Preſence of All-ſeeing God, the great Witneſs and Judge of my Crime, and before this whole Aſſembly, who have been the Witneſſes of my Hypocriſy, I plead Guilty, and require Sentence may be paſſed againſt me as a moſt notorious Malefactor. We may eaſily ſuppoſe the Amazement of all the Aſſembly, and eſpecially of his Fellow Judges. However they proceeded, upon his Confeſſion, to paſs Sentence upon him, and he died with all the Symptoms of a penitent Mind: An exemplary Inſtance of the fatal Effects of an exorbitant Paſſion, and the tremendous Juſtice of Providence, in detecting one of the moſt cool and artful Villains, after ſuch a long Concealment.

PARIS, April 24.

THE firſt Manuſcript Copy of the Parliament's Remonſtrance ſold eight Days ago for ſix Louis D'ors, and for ſeveral Days after, till it appeared in Print, whoever preſented a Copy of it, was ſure of being well paid. The King's Anſwer is looked upon as an authentick Proof of his Confidence in the Parliament, and the Parliament's Arret of the 18th Inſtant, as the Triumph of this illuſtrious Body. The Eagerneſs of the Publick to have at this Arret was ſurprizing; every Body would have it, ſaying, This is my Confeſſion Certificate. A Prieſt of St. Stephen on the Hill, being ſent for the Twentieth Inſtant to a ſick Perſon, and having dared to demand a Certificate of Confeſſion, the latter gave him no Anſwer, but referred him to the Arret, which lay by him; upon which the Prieſt immediately gave him the Sacraments. The Curate [Parſon] of St. Laurence at Orleans, of whoſe Puniſhment the King makes mention in his Anſwer to the Parliament has been taken up in broad Day-light by the Grand Provoſt and the Marſhalſea Men, and carried Priſoner to the Seminary of Blois. The Bedeles refuſing the Sacraments to dying Perſons, this Prieſt had declaimed in a moſt virulent Sermon, That he was ready to ſuffer Martyrdom for the Cauſe he maintained; but when he ſpied the Provoſt, he turned pale, and endeavoured to hide himſelf in ſome Hole or Corner in the Houſe, but in vain.

Aveland, in Eſſex, April 11. Capt. Mariot going from this Town to his Houſe at Horſley Park, with a Gun in his Hand, was aſſaulted by a luſty Beggar-woman in the narrow Road, who aſk'd him for Alms, which he refus'd; whereupon ſhe ruſh'd in, and ſeized the Captain: A Struggle enſued, but another Woman in the Rear Array, came to her Aſſiſtance, and got the Captain down, tied his Hands and Legs with Cords, unbutton'd his Breeches, took his Gold Watch, and Three Shillings and Six-pence in Money, nay, had the Impudence to piſs on the Lock of his Gun, and then made off through the Fields to Great Horkley. The Captain in this Situation continued near Half and Hour, and was then happily releaſed by a Gentleman's Servant paſſing by, who untied the Captain, and aſſiſted him in the Purſuit of theſe Wretches, whom they took in an open Field, without any Reſiſtance. They were carried before Nicholas Garrard Lynne, Eſqs and the above Effects being found upon them, they were committed to Colcheſter Goal, and were guarded by the Captain in the Way thither, who is bound over to proſecute the next Aſſizes.----What Pity it is that ſome Law is not made to ſweep the Country of theſe ſturdy Beggars in Diſguiſe, who daily do ſo much Miſchief both in Town and Country.

LONDON, April 22.

Saturday Evening, Mary Macculloh and Jane Macculloh were brought before Juſtice Fielding, for beating Elizabeth Macculloh. After much Altercation on all Sides, the Juſtice thinking it a Family Quarrel, adviſed an Accommodation; when it appeared, that the Relationſhip between the Parties were ſuch as is not known or acknowledged in our Law, they being indeed all the Wives of one and the ſame Huſband. Matters now ſeemed irreconcileable by any, unleſs perhaps by Solomon himſelf; however, as the laſt Wife was the Complainant, and the Beating not very ſevere, indeed much leſs than might have been expected, or ſeemed in this Caſe to have been deſerved; the Magiſtrate refuſed to interpoſe. He then recommended to the firſt Wife to endeavour to bring her Huſband to Juſtice, but that was plainly impoſſible, there being no Evidence in England of the firſt Marriage; and the Eſtate of the Huſband and the Fortunes of the three Wives amounting only to ooooo.

April 23. A few Days ago a Conteſt aroſe between a Publican, not above a Mile from Peckham Rye, in the Pariſh of Camberwell in Surry, and his Wife [a Deſcendant of the Amazons of Hockley in the Hole] who ſhould wear the Breeches, upon which a bloody Combat enſued; the Victory for ſome Time was doubtful, but upon his receiving an unlucky Blow on the ſoft Part of his Head, which fell'd him to the Ground, ſhe was [to the no ſmall Mortification of his Brother Bucks in that Neighbourhood] declared Victor. The Brother of the Vanquiſhed being an Eye-witneſs of the Overthrow, was much irritated thereat, and made Uſe of ſome ſevere Expreſſions, which ſo enraged the Heroine, that ſhe immediately attacked him in a moſt furious Manner; and after ſhe had ſatisfied her Rage by baſting him with a Cribbage Board, ſhe gave him a decent Waſh with a Bowl of Punch, which ſtood near at Hand; and if it had not been for the kind Interpoſition of ſome Standers-by, the Cataſtrophe might have been very melancholy. A proper Submiſſion being made by the Publican and his Brother, Pardon was obtained. This Affair reaching the Ears of the Henpeck'd, &c. reſiding in the adjacent Villages, a Conſultation was had thereupon, and a Reſolution fix'd to exhibit a * Skimington, in order, if poſſible to prevent any future Diſaſters of this Kind in that Neighbourhood.

* Being the uſual Burleſque when the Female gains the Breeches.

April 27. On Wedneſday Evening laſt was buried from the Pariſh Houſe of Covent-Garden, Mrs. Careleſs, well known for many Years by the Name of Betty Careleſs, by the gay Gentlemen of the Town, of whoſe Money ſhe had been the Occaſion (as it is ſaid) of ſpending upwards of Fifty Thouſand Pounds, tho' at laſt reduced to receive Alms from the Pariſh. Almoſt a certain Conſequence attending Ladies in her unhappy Caſt of Life.

The many uſeful, extenſive and unexampled Charities, deviſed, erected and maintained in a flouriſhing Condition within theſe few Years, in this Metropolis and its Neighbourhood (though in a great Meaſure by the Contribution of the Nobility, Clergy and Gentry, who reſide only occaſionly here) is a manifeſt Proof that we have ſtill ſo much of Chriſtianity and publick Spirit amongſt us, as, if properly exerted, would effectually remove all Grievances, retrieve our antient Glory, make the Ploughman chearful in the Field, and the Seaman free and happy on the Main.

From the Conduct of the Courts of Berlin, Manheim, and Bonne, in Reſpect to the ſo much vaunted Election of a King of the Romans, we ſhall be able to make a true Eſtimate of our Influence in foreign Affairs, ſince it is avowed that no Means have been ſpared to bring them to think well of the good Cauſe (ſo the Auſtrians call their own) while on the other Hand there is a certain imprudent Fellow who writes to his Friend at Paris from* that all Things go well on their Side, and that the Independants are all ſteady.

From the London Daily Gazetteer, April 20.

Whatever ſome impertinent Cavillers may ſay or think, nothing could be more prudent than to tolerate till the 1ſt of December next, thoſe publick Places of Diverſion and Entertainment, which it is confeſſed there is a Neceſſity to reſtrain or ſuppreſs.

In the Caſe of ſpirituous Liquors, Phyſicians hold it is not expedient to break off ſuddenly an habitual Abuſe of them, but that the Dram-drinker muſt be wean'd from them gradually; and accordingly we have ſeen, that when ſome indifferent Tongues and Pens ſounded an Alarm, and ſtrove to gather the whole Nation to Battle againſt the Spirits, wiſer Heads averted the Storm, being well aware of the Inconvenience and Danger of violent Meaſures, and ſo only laid a trifling additional Duty on thoſe Deſtroyers of the human Species, which may be gradually encreaſed, as the Health of the Subjects, or the Exigencies of the E---r, may require.

On that Principle it ſhould therefore ſeem, that if a Nation were got into a Habit of being continually inebriated with Muſick, ſo as to have little or no Leiſure or Inclination for any ſerious Reflections or uſeful Studies, it might not be ſafe to fling them out of ſuch a State, leſt they ſhould run ſtark mad, or fall into a gloomy, melancholy, lethargic Mood.

Moreover, when the Maſter of a Family is abroad upon important Buſineſs, it is very fit that the Children and Servants ſhould have a Holiday, leſt they ſhould fall to romping, and fling the Houſe out at the Windows: And there would be ſo much the leſs Reaſon to grudge them this Indulgence, if there ſhould be a Probability that, upon his Return, they muſt leave off playing the Fool and fribbling away their Time and their Pence, in Conſequence of Miſcarriages or unexpected ill Turns, which might rouze the whole Family to Purſuits of the moſt ſerious and important Nature, and leave them little or no Muſick but Drums and Trumpets. But if this ſhould not happen, there will then be ſufficient Leiſure to conſult againſt the next Spring, what Gardens, &c. ſhall be licenſed gratis in this venal, corrupt Age.

The Succeſs that has already attended the generous Endeavours of thoſe who have laboured to render new Branches of Trade practicable, will, it is believed, induce thoſe, in whoſe Power it lies, to conſider very maturely thoſe Excluſions; which, without profiting the nominal Poſſeſſors, a ſingle Shilling, might, by the Sagacity of ſome, and the vigorous Activity of others, be render'd Mines of Wealth to their Country; and that in an Age, when, adding new Rewards to Induſtry, ought to be eſteemed the moſt acceptable Service to the Publick.

April 27. The firſt Preſident of the Parliament of Paris is ſaid to have expreſſed himſelf, in his laſt Audience of the King, to the following Effect, "That it was not conſiſtent with the Honour or Duty of the Parliament to retract their Proceedings againſt the Curate of St. Stephens; that ſuch Enterprizes of the Clergy were infinitely more prejudicial to the royal Authority than the Meaſures which had drawn that Imputation upon the Parliament, who had no other Object in View than the Intereſt of his Majeſty, the Good of the Kingdom, and the Quiet of the People's Conſciences; that it was very grievous to that ſovereign Court, to find herſelf ſuſpected of any ſuch ſiniſter Deſigns; and that till ſhe is freed from this Reproach, ſhe thinks herſelf obliged to ſuſpend all her Functions." People are very attentive to the Conſequences, as the Parliament ſeem determined to riſk every Thing rather than ſubmit to the Dictates of the Clergy.

May 5. On Occaſion of the Diſturbances in the Upper-Auſtria about Religion, it may be obſerved, that Differences in Religion would never be productive of Tumults or Inſurrections in any Country, if the Sovereign or his Miniſters were not in ſome Meaſure the Occaſion of ſuch Diſorders: They muſt have behaved partially, too much favoured one Side, or too much depreſſed the other. Diſſenters from the eſtabliſhed Religion of any State cannot reaſonably expect to be favoured in all Reſpects equally with Conformiſts; but they have a Right to Liberty of Conſcience, and the Privilege of ſerving God in that Way which they think moſt acceptable to him, as it will be no Excuſe at the Great Day, if Men go aſtray, to ſay that they acted according to the Principles and Practices in Faſhion at Court. As for the Proteſtants in the Upper Auſtria, it appears by the Accounts we have hitherto received from Vienna and Ratiſbon, they aſk nothing more than the free Exerciſe of their Religion, or elſe Leave to depart with their Effects; and 'tis with great Pleaſure we find, that the King of Pruſſia intends to interpoſe, in order to obtain that reaſonable Indulgence for them: But it will be much more pleaſing to hear (which we hope will happen in a Poſt or two) that the Britiſh Miniſter at Vienna is alſo become an Advocate for the ſaid Proteſtants, as the Interceſſion of a Friend muſt needs have more Weight than that of a Party ſuſpected of being an Enemy, and the rather, as it is in the Power of this Court to obtain any reaſonable Requeſt of the Houſe of Auſtria, ſince that Family ſtands in much greater Need of England, than England does of it.

Briſtol, May 2. Laſt Monday Morning a great Number of People reſorted before Newgate, to ſee the Eleven Tranſports carried away for Biddeford. The principal Object of their Curioſity was Daniel Biſhop, who was condemned to be hang'd laſt Midſummer Aſſizes, for the Murder of his Sweet-heart Winnifred Jones. Ten of the Priſoners were mounted two upon a Horſe, chain'd; and Biſhop was put upon a ſingle Horſe without Chains. As he was the laſt that came out of the Priſon, the People were impatient, and cry'd out, Where's Biſhop?---He no ſooner appeared, but they ſet up a loud Huzza, and beſtowed on him divers Reproaches: In particular a young Woman cry'd out, Hang the Dog, &c. and told him, ſhe was glad to ſee him come to this. He behaved with great Aſſurance and Boldneſs, wav'd his Hat, and huzza'd in Chorus. The Streets through which they paſſed were exceedingly crowded with People, who in general bore him ſuch an Indignation, that they cry'd out, Hang the Dog,---Hang the Dog,---A Halter,---A Halter, &c. and pelted him with Dirt. At the Foot of Redcliff Hill, ſix of the Priſoners were thrown from their Horſes, occaſioned by their taking Fright at the Noiſe of the Populace. At which Place, a Woman told him, with a Halter ſhaking in her Hand, She ſhould be glad to ſee him hang'd up to her Sign-Poſt, for that he had killed her good honeſt Servant Maid Winnifred Jones.---He made Anſwer, What ſhould I be hang'd for? I have been hang'd a great many times to ſuch as you.----On Redcliff Hill, he ſtruck a young Man who had pelted him, ſeveral Blows; which together with his impudent Behaviour, had ſo incenſed the Populace, that they more eagerly pelted him with Dirt and Stones; and 'tis thought would have tore him to Pieces, had not the Perſons who guarded the Priſoners prevented them. Several Thouſand People followed him as far as Bedminiſter.

From the Weſtminſter Journal of May 16, 1752.

The Barbary Corſairs have taken off the Coaſt of Caporricuto, five Veſſels laden with Corn and Oil which were deſtined for the Port of Naples, eſteemed at 40000 Crowns.

All the Time that his Britannick Majeſty was expected to arrive in Holland, a Courier waited at Maeſlandſluys for the Signal of the Squadron, which convoyed him, being in View; which he no ſooner perceived, by the lowering of the Flag upon the Tower of the Briel, than he poſted to the Hague. The King, according to all Appearance, was deſirous of giving Madam the Governante an Opportunity of coming to ſee him; and to that End it is believed he went to Maeſlandſluys, to the Morhianhooſe Inn, inſtead of ſtopping at the State-Houſe, called Genwulkudſluys, at Helvoet, and paſſing the Night there, as his Majeſty uſed to do. He arrived at Maeſlandſluys at 6 a Clock, and ſupped and lay in that Inn, which he had not done for many Years before. If his Majeſty had only paſſed through that Village, he might have been, ſoon after 10 a Clock, at the Houſe of his Agent at Utrecht, where Supper was prepared for him, and the Gates kept open all Night. All this proves the Deſign which the King had to have an Interview with her Royal Highneſs the Governante his Daughter, who did not come as ſhe was expected to have done; and People are very deſirous to know the Reaſon of it. There are indeed ſome Letters from the Hague, which ſay, that it was owing to the Influence of a certain Perſon, who has more particularly, than any other, the Ear of her Royal Highneſs, to the great Concern of her faithful Counſellors, and of all good Patriots. This Man it is believed, was afraid that, upon his Majeſty's being informed how hurtful his Council was to publick Affairs, he ſhould fall a Victim to ſuch Interview. It has therefore, it is ſaid, been reſolved, that her Royal Highneſs ſhall be at Loo with her Family, at the Return of the King, who did not ſtay at all at Utrecht, where there were more People than ordinary to ſee him. Thoſe who had that Honour, ſay his Majeſty appeared in perfect Health, and ſuch as he will have need of, in order to puſh with Vigour the great and important Affairs which call him into Germany.

London, May 16. A Chineſe is lately arrived here, who has offered to inſtruct the Engliſh in making of China, equal in every Reſpect to that brought from thence.

Laſt Wedneſday 7-Night, a Gentleman walking in the Park alone, was accoſted by a Perſon genteelly dreſt, who called him by his Name, claimed a former Acquaintance with him, and told him that he went to School with him in Yorkſhire, but had not had the Pleaſure of ſeeing him for twenty Years paſt. The Gentleman returned his Civilities, and was greatly pleaſed at meeting with an old Friend. After ſome Converſation they agreed to go to a Tavern near Charing-Croſs; where, about eleven a Clock, the Gentleman, having drank plentifully in the Afternoon, fell aſleep, and his pretended Friend pick'd his Pocket of Seven Guineas and a Gold Watch, and made off without any further Ceremony, than leaving on the Table a Piece of Paper, whereon was wrote, 'It is Time to 'be gone, but I am not the Perſon you took me for.'

They tell us from Cudderſtone in Yorkſhire, that a few Days ago, one Mark Nenby eat at one Meal, and in leſs than Half an Hour's Time, Twenty Pounds of Pudding, Eleven of Mutton, Four Gallons of Broth, Three of churn'd Milk, and an entire Giblet Pye----This Fellow may be ſaid to have had a good Swallow; and the Hiſtorian ſeems to think his Readers have no bad one.

Lately was married at May Fair Chapel, Henry Merriton of Chelſea, Eſq; aged near 90, to Miſs Alice Gray, a young Lady under 12 Years of Age, with all the Accompliſhments that can be expected from one of her Age, to render the married State happy. (A ſuitable Match! an old Boy, and a young Girl.)

May 23. Letters from Vienna obſerve, that Orders have been ſent from the War-Office to the Commanders of the Imperial Regiments to keep all Soldiers that are yet fit for Service, and not to diſcharge them ſo frequently as they uſed to do, under the Pretext of their being ſuperannuated; and as the Imperial Recruiting-Officers are ſtill very buſy in Franconia, the Elector of Cologne, and other Parts of the Empire, they conclude that the Peace of Germany is not ſo well ſettled, but that there is ſtill Reaſon enough to make Proviſion for War.

From Paris we are told, that the Court has iſſued Orders for encamping ſeveral Regiments in Franche Compte, that they may firſt be exerciſed in the Method lately introduced, and afterwards according as the Situation of Affairs in Germany may require.

Yeſterday the Rev. Mr. Whitefield arrived in Town from the Orphan Houſe, South Carolina.

May 26. According to private Letters from Bazil, in Switzerland, the French have actually encamped a conſiderable Body of Horſe and Foot in the Neighbourhood of Beſancon in Franche Compte; upon which the Canton of Bern has taken the Alarm, and iſſued the neceſſary Orders for encamping the like Number of Troops in their own Territories, which, as is very natural, occaſions many Speculations.

Letters from Bruſſels ſay, that the Garriſons of Namur, Tournay, and Ypres, will be reinforced ſpeedily by Dutch Troops. And we have Letters from Toulon which aſſure, that the four Men of War which are to be ſent out on a ſecret Expedition, fell down into the Road of that Harbour on the 9th Inſtant. Likewiſe from Copenhagen, that Orders are given for completing all the Regiments of that Kingdom, both Horſe and Foot.

By the Captains Griffiths, and Bogart, arriv'd at New-York, from Newſtaſtle on Tyne, we have the following Advices.

Hague, May 28. It is aſſured that the Marriage of the King of Denmark, with the Princeſs of Wolfenbuttle, is upon the Point of being concluded.

Vienna, May 13. A Courier is arrived here from Hanover, with Diſpatches of great Importance; and 'tis ſaid an extraordinary Council is ſummoned for To-morrow on the Occaſion.

Stockholm, May 15. A Project is revived here for making Marſtrand a free Port, and the general Mart of the Fiſhery, on Account of its fine Situation and Strength, both by Art and Nature, being covered on all Sides, defended by a fine Citadel, and having a double Entrance; beſides that the largeſt Men of War, and ſeveral hundred Merchantmen, may ride ſafely at Anchor in the Harbour. The Revival of the Fiſhery is one of the Articles which the Government ſeems to have moſt at Heart. It is well known that in the Year 1659, King Charles Guſtavus, made a Treaty of Alliance with Oliver Cromwell, by which an advantageous Article was ſtipulated for the Swedes, relating to the Liberty of fiſhing on the Britiſh Coaſts, either for Herrings, or any other Fiſh, provided the Number of their Fiſhing Veſſels did not exceed 1000: And as the good Underſtanding with Great-Britain, has never ſince ſuffered any material or ſenſible Alteration, that Treaty is deemed to be ſtill in Force.

LONDON, May 23.

Yeſterday the India Company received Advice of the Arrival at Dover, of the Onſlow, Capt. Hinde from Bencoolen; and the true Britain Capt. Bradley, and the Lord Anſon, Capt. Fowles, from China. Some Private Letters by the above Ships, ſay, that the Dutch, ſome Time ſince, took two Proas belonging to the Engliſh on the Coaſt of Sumatra; and lately a Sloop with a Quantity of Dollars, and valuable Goods on board. As that Coaſt is open to all, we muſt ſuppoſe theſe Fellows to be Pirates; as ſuperior Strength is the only Reaſon they give for ſuch Actions; and as we think our good Allies would not countenance ſuch Proceedings.

By a Ship from Guinea, we have an Account that the French are entirely driven from the Coaſt of Anamaboa, and diſappointed in their Attempts to bring over unto their Side, a ſecond Son of the Prince of Anamaboa, in order to improve their Trade in that Country, to the Detriment of ours.

It is added, that a ſufficient Number of Men are employed in the ſeveral Forts of that Caſtle, belonging to the Britiſh Settlements.

By a Letter from Ireland, we have an Account, that Orders have been given for ſearching of the Houſes of the Roman Catholicks for Arms.

The Marine of the Kingdom of Spain is becoming very powerful, and it may be ſaid, without the leaſt Exaggeration, that it is already in ſuch a Situation as may be called formidable. Their Land Forces are indeed not ſo numerous as has been publiſhed; but they are ſo well regulated and maintained, that in Caſe of Need, as much Advantage may be drawn from them, as if they were more numerous, and not ſo well diſciplined: Though, if Neceſſity ſhould require, they may, in a very ſhort Time, be conſiderably augmented, by Means of certain Regulations which have been made for that Purpoſe. The Harmony between the Spaniſh Court and that of Vienna, becomes every Day more firm than other, but their Affairs with Great-Britain ſeem to be aſleep; and M. Keene, notwithſtanding the great Dexterity which he is ſaid to have in Politicks, cannot yet attain to the Art of giving to his Negociation that Vigour which is neceſſary to make it ſucceed. People do not pretend to be thoroughly acquainted with the Obſtacles which this Negociation meets with; but 'tis generally believed, that the Court of Great-Britain itſelf, brings the greateſt by its Pretenſions in Regard to its Commerce in the Weſt-Indies.

Extract of a Letter from Breadnall, in Bambrougſhire, May 24.

On Friday laſt we had here the moſt violent Claps of Thunder that ever were known. Mr. Wood, a Gentleman of this Place, happened to have ſome Friends at Dinner with him that Day, when one of them and himſelf, ſitting with their Faces oppoſite to the Window, were almoſt totally deprived of Sight for ſome conſiderable Space of Time: The Pavement before his Door was torn up in a terible Manner; and a Horſe at a very little Diſtance from it was inſtantly ſtruck dead. The Lightnings were ſo near the Earth, that they hardly preceded the Thunder, but the Flaſh and Exploſion ſeemed to be at one and the ſame Time. In ſhort, it is impoſſible to deſcribe the Horrors of this dreadful Appearance, ſince the Houſe ſhook, and the Earth ſeemed to tremble around. The Rain fell ſo violently, that it kept People within Doors, and by a wonderful Hand of Providence, in all Probability, ſaved the Lives of many.

Portſmouth, New-Hampſhire, July 23.

We had laſt Night as ſevere a Thunder Storm as ever was known in America:---There was diſtant Thunder from the Sea, heard all Day, and a black Cloud obſerved to riſe from the Eaſtern Board very gradually, which came over us about 6 a Clock P. M. and covered the whole Hemiſphere, and ſo continued (there being ſcarce any Wind) till about Midnight, with inceſſant, and extemely ſevere Thunder and Lightning, and great Rain: The whole Atmoſphere ſeemed to be in a Blaze, with the un-intermitting Corruſcations, and as terrible Thunder Claps as were ever heard; ſo that the whole Town ſeemed to be coming down about our Ears; and expected ever Moment to ſee ſome Part of it in Flames (as we then ſaw a great Fire upon Kittery-Side, which we hear was a Barn burnt:) But thro' the great Goodneſs of God, we have ſuſtained but little Damage.----The Main-Maſt of a Schooner at the North-End, was ſtruck by the Lightning; and altho' the Maſt is ſhiver'd to Pieces by it (and the other Maſt ruin'd by the Shock) till it came to a Ring that encompaſſed it (which it melted a little) yet below that Ring there is no Effects of it.---A plain Proof of the Electrick Nature of Lightning.

BOSTON, July 27.

Wedneſday laſt we had here very ſevere Thunder, and the ſharpeſt Lightning that has been known for many Years paſt, which continued from about Noon, till Ten a Clock at Night, almoſt without Intermiſſion, attended with much Rain. The Damage done by the Lightning (ſo far as is come to our Knowledge) is as follows, viz. The Block-Houſe on Governor's Iſland was ſtruck, and pretty much ſhattered;---at Brain-tree a valuable Horſe and Hog were killed, and a large Tree in Milton Woods ſhiver'd to Pieces like a Broom.---At Nantaſket a new Veſſel on the Stocks was ſtruck, and received a great deal of Damage; and ſeveral Perſons being on board at the ſame Time, ran to an Houſe for Shelter, but were no ſooner enter'd, than a Flaſh of Lightning came in, and ſtunned them for a Time, ſplit the Stock of a Gun that was hanging up, made a Hole through the Chimney, and did ſome Damage to the Out-ſide of the Houſe.

NEWPORT, Rhode-Iſland, July 24.

On Wedneſday laſt arrived here Capt. Wilcox from Jamaica, in whom came Paſſengers, Captains Mawdſley and Cozens, both of this Place; the former of which loaded in the Bay of Honduras, and after being out 15 Days, met with a Zebeck of 14 Six-pounders, and a Cow-ſhew-piece, with nigh 100 Men; they engaged for a conſiderable Time very warmly, and Capt. Mawdſley having almoſt expended all his Ammunition, made Preparation for boarding, and bore down upon her; upon which the Zebeck made off, and that Evening went to the Muſketo Shore, at a Place called Black-River: About 10 the ſame Evening, the Zebeck joined with a Galley that came into the Road, and cut his Veſſel out, with the aforeſaid Cozen's Sloop, and carried them both off, the Captains being on Shore.----Capt. Mawdſley had 40 Men, many of which were Negroes, and but a few ſmall Carriage Guns; he heard afterwards that he had killed and wounded ſeveral of the Spamards.---The Zebeck was commanded by one Don Juan, a Man famous in the late War for a Commander of a Privateer.

NEW-YORK, Auguſt 3.

By Capt. Furlow, in forty Days from the Bay of Hondoras, we have Advice, that the Spaniards have made a Settlement very near that Place, from whence they lately ſent ten armed Craft to the Bay, and carried off all the Negroes belonging to the Engliſh, which had obliged moſt of the Heads of the Bay, to depart either to the Muſketo Shore, or Jamaica. Capt. Furlow left but three Engliſh Veſſels in the Bay, viz. ------ the Captains Man, Jones and Bowen, which were all of this Port. Capt. Shoals, who arrived here Yeſterday, and Capt. M'Namara, bound for Hamburgh, ſailed in Company with him from the Bay.

By the Honourable

JAMES HAMILTON, Eſq;

Lieutenant-Governor and Commander in Chief, of the Province of Pennſylvania, and Counties of Newcaſtle, Kent and Suſſex, on Delaware,

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS it hath been certified to me, upon Oath, That Eleanor Davis, and John Thomas, were barbarouſly murder'd, and Rachel James was dangerouſly wounded, on Saturday the firſt Inſtant, in the late Dwelling-houſe of the ſaid Eleanor Davis, in Tredyffrin Townſhip, in Cheſter County, by three Men, who attempted to rob the ſaid Dwelling-houſe; two of whom having diſguiſed their Faces, by painting them black, and ſuddenly aſſaulting the deceaſed and wounded perſons immediately after their Entry into the ſaid Houſe, cannot be particularly deſcribed; but the other may be known by the following Marks; He was of a middle Stature, ſuppoſed to be about Thirty Years of Age, had the Mark of a Wound on his Left Leg, near his Shin, and wore a brown Cloth Coat, a black Waiſtcoat, a white Shirt, grey Worſted or Yarn Stockings, and good Shoes, with Braſs Buckles. I do hereby, in his Majeſty's Name, command and require all Magiſtrates, Sheriffs, Conſtables, and others his Majeſty's Liege Subjects within this Province, to uſe their utmoſt Diligence to ſearch after, and apprehend the ſaid Offenders; and if they or any of them are taken, to carry him or them before one of his Majeſty's Juſtices of the Peace for the County where he or they ſhall be arreſted, to be dealt with according to Law. And I do hereby requeſt all his Majeſty's Subjects in the neighbouring Provinces, to uſe their utmoſt Endeavours to ſeize and ſecure the ſaid Offenders, ſo that they may be brought to Juſtice, and puniſhed.

GIVEN under my Hand, and the Great Seal of the ſaid Province, at Philadelphia, the fourth Day of Auguſt, in the Year of our Lord One Thouſand Seven Hundred and Fifty-two, and in the Twenty-ſixth Year of his Majeſty's Reign.

JAMES HAMILTON.

By his Honour's Command,

GOD ſave the KING.

Laſt Week one Peter Horn was kill'd on Cheſtnut-Hill, by the Overſetting of a Waggon.

We bear from Springfield, in the Jerſeys, that the houſe of William Dennis there, was broke open on the 29*th of laſt Month, and ſundry Things carried off.*

Laſt Friday, early in the Morning, the Lightning ſtruck two Houſes on Society Hill, and did them conſiderable Damage, but hurt no Perſon. It was very remarkable in both Houſes, that the Lightning in its Paſſage from the Roof to the Ground, ſeem'd to go conſiderably out of a direct Courſe, for the ſake of paſſing thro' Metal; ſuch as Hinges, Saſh Weights, Iron Rods, the Pendulum of a Clock, &c. and that where it had ſufficient Metal to conduct it nothing was damag'd; but where it paſſed thro' Plaiſtering or Wood-work, it rent and ſplit them ſurprizingly.

On Saturday one Gideon Caſey (from Rhode-Iſland) was committed to the Jail of this City, for uttering Counterfeit Dubloons, knowing them to be ſuch: As was alſo on Sunday Morgan Murphy, for robbing the Houſes of Matthias Keen and James Elliot, near Frankfort.

Yeſterday a melancholy Accident happen'd here, by the Fleur of a Little Houſe falling in, when a Woman and young Child were in it. The Child died ſoon after it was got out; and the Woman was very much hurt, but is likely to recover.

By what we can learn from the New-York Poſt, there is Reaſon to believe, that the Report of Richard Peter's being robb'd a laſt Week in Penn's Manor, is without Foundation.

WHereas James Rigbee has advertised for sale, besides sundry other lands, a valuable plantation in York county, Pennsylvania, lying between York and John Wright's ferry, now in my possession, and late the property of my father Joshua Marshall, deceased, by a legal right from the honourable Proprietaries of Pennsylvania granted, and the land settled and well improved long before Nathan Rigbee's pretended claim to it, which began about 15 years ago, when some persons out of the government of Maryland had a mind to extend the limits of their province, and claimed the lands on the west-side of Susquehanna river for 30 miles within Pennsylvania, it was then Nathan Rigbee, father to the advertiser, was very active in procuring the inhabitants of that part of this province to be taken prisoners, and carried to Maryland goals, amongst which was my father; and in the mean time surveying away their plantations, by virtue of Maryland rights, asserting it to be Baltimore county; for which, and other misdemeanors, a bill of indictment was found against him, and several of his accomplices, in the court of Quarter Sessions, held at Lancaster sometime after.

The above recited is the whole, and only claim the said James Rigbee can pretend to have to my land and plantation, which he has, with such an uncommon degree of assurance, offered to sale in the Pennsylvania Gazette. In return for which treatment, I think I have a right to caution all persons inclining to purchase from the said James Rigbee, to take care that whatever he shall further offer to sale, may not be the property of other men.

NAPLES, May 4.

THE Ruins of the ancient City of Heraclea inceſſantly afford ſomething new and curious. There has lately been found amongſt them an Urn of three Feet and a Half high, of very fine Marble as white as Alablaſter. The Delicacy of the Bas Relief, together with the Simplicity of the Ornaments, proves the Antiquity of the Work, and ſhews it to be the Production of the flouriſhing Ages of Greece.

Berlin May 19. M. Maupertuis, Preſident of the Academy of Sciences, has ſent to the King a Baſket of fine ripe Peaches, the Growth of the Academy's Garden. This extraordinary Preſent was received with a great deal of Pleaſure and Admiration. We ſuffer by the abſurd Cruelty of others, Numbers of French Proteſtants, valuable ſkilful Men, daily coming hither, being driven from their native Country.

Rome, May 6. By Advices from Conſtantinople we learn, that notwithſtanding the Grand Signior continues to perſiſt invariably in the Reſolution of living in perfect Friendſhip with all the Chriſtian Powers, yet he intends ſhortly to give Directions for putting the Places he poſſeſſes in Dalmatia, in a proper State of Defence. The ſame Advices add, that the City of Conſtantinople is now almoſt as populous as it was before the late Plague, occaſioned by the great Numbers of Workmen of all Sorts who have been ſent there by the Beglerbegs of the ſeveral Provinces, according to the Orders they have received ſome Time ago from the Grand Vizir, for that Purpoſe.

Copenhagen, May 12. The King has cauſed a Placart to be published, by which his Majeſty acquaints his Subjects, that his Miniſter Plenipotentiary have concluded two Treaties of Peace, one on the 28th of December laſt, with the Regency of Tunis, and the other on the 22d of January, with the Bey of Tripoly, by which Free Navigation is ſecured for our Ships trading in the Mediterranean Sea. Theſe Treaties are to be made publick as ſoon as the new Regulation for granting Paſſes can be adjuſted. On Friday laſt Count Roſenberg, Miniſter from their Imperial Majeſties to this Court, received an Expreſs from Vienna, with Diſpatches of great Importance, which he immediately communicated to Baron Bernſtorff, Miniſter of the Department for foreign Affairs.

Stockholm, May 16. It is decided that the Marriage of Guſtavus Prince of Sweden, with the Princeſs Sophia Magdalen, of Denmark, ſhall take Place as ſoon as the Parties ſhall have attained the Age requiſite.

Vienna, May 1. Several Regiments are on their March from Tranſylvania and Tranſilvania, in order to rendezvous at Solenaw, where a Camp is to be formed. It is ſtill expected that Camps will be formed this Summer in other Parts of the Empreſs's hereditary Provinces, either by Way of Precaution, or elſe to keep the Troops out of Idleneſs.

Rome, May 6. Couriers are frequently paſſing to and fro between this Court and that of Verſailles. The Cardinal Secretary of State, and the Chevalier de la Brue, who is charged with the Affairs of France here, have each of them juſt received an Expreſs, whoſe Diſpatches are ſaid to be of the utmoſt Importance, the Subject of them being nothing leſs than the Differences between the Court of France, and the Parliament of Paris, about refuſing the Sacraments to the Abbe le Maire and others.

Amſterdam, May 14. People here who are well acquainted with publick and politick Affairs, now talk with great Certainty of the Marriage of his Daniſh Majeſty, with a Princeſs Siſter of the King of Pruſſia; and they aſſure us, that we ſhall ſhortly ſee that Match concluded. There are ſome who diſapprove of this Alliance, imagining thereby that the Party of France will be too much ſtrengthened; but theſe may poſſibly be miſtaken; ſince we frequently now-a-days, ſee theſe Kind of Alliances to have little or no Influence upon the political Intereſt of Princes, as the Conduct of his Poliſh Majeſty, Elector of Saxony, proves, who has entered into a Treaty of Subſidy with the Maritime Powers, tho' diametrically oppoſite to the Views of the Court of Verſailles, whoſe Heir apparent married a Daughter of that Prince; ſo that, ſhould his Daniſh Majeſty marry the Siſter, it would not be a neceſſary Conſequence, that he ſhould at the ſame Time eſpouſe the Intereſt of the Brother. Be that, however, as it will, 'tis pretended that his Britannick Majeſty has been greatly inſtrumental in perſuading his Son in Law to ſupply the Place of his dear Daughter, by a Princeſs of the Houſe of Brandenburgh. The accommodating Matters between the Courts of Berlin and Hanover, is one of the principal Objects of the Attention of the latter; his Britannick Majeſty looking upon that Accommodation as the only and moſt ſpeedy Means of cauſing the Election of a King of the Romans to be brought to a happy Concluſion, and to prevent any Violence reſulting from it in the Empire: The Tranquility which it at preſent enjoys, his Majeſty is deſirous of preſerving and perpetuating by gentle and benign Methods; and by ſuch Means this Monarch will avoid being expoſed to the Reproaches which have heretofore been caſt upon the Court of France, which has been but too juſtly accuſed, that when it has contributed to reſtore Peace, and obliged foreign Powers who were in War, to be reconciled to each other, it almoſt always employed for that Purpoſe, Remedies which proved worſe than the Diſeaſe.

News has been lately received here, that the Bantams had ſurpriſed Batavia, and plundered ſome Quarters of that powerful City; but that the Troops of the Caſtle having fallen upon them, drove them out of the Town. We have yet no Particulars of this Affair.

Amſterdam, May 16. According to what appears by Letters from Hanover and Vienna, the Earl of Hyndford will be charged with negociating the delicate Affair of reconciling the Miſunderſtanding which has ſo long ſubſiſted between the Courts of Berlin and Hanover, an Undertaking which is far from being eaſy to execute, ſince great Difficulties will unavoidably ariſe in uniting the Intereſts of the two Electoral Houſes, which are at preſent, in ſo many Reſpects, abſolutely oppoſite: As, however, in Point of Politicks, there are few Enterprizes impoſſible to be effected by the great Monarch who undertakes this, ſo it is hoped that, in Time, the Court of Hanover will accompliſh the ſalutary Work.

Hanover, May 19. The Signature of the Treaty of Madrid, relating to Italy, gives a great deal of Satisfaction to the Court, and to all who beſtow any Thoughts on publick Matters. Gen. Dieden, who came with a Commiſſion from the Landgrave of Heſſe Caſſel, intimated to his Majeſty, that the Princeſs Mary was deſirous of paying her Duty to his Majeſty; to which the King anſwered, that it would be a very ſenſible Pleaſure to him to entertain his dear Daughter at Herenhauſen. Col. York is ordered to remonſtrate to the States General, againſt the unfriendly Practices of the Dutch on the Coaſt of Guinea.

Vienna, May 20. The Earl of Hyndford has juſt fixed a Day for his Departure for Hanover, his Excellency having only waited for the News of the ſigning the Treaty of Madrid. The Affairs he is going to report to the King his Maſter, are ſo important, and ſo connected with the Intereſt of different Courts, that it is believed his Lordſhip muſt come hither again to put the finiſhing Hand to them. Many Officers that were in this City, have received Orders from the Council of War to repair forthwith to their reſpective Regiments, and not to be abſent from them upon any Pretext whatſoever.

Copenhagen, May 20. The King has appointed the Baron De Solenthall, Brother of the Ambaſſador of that Name, to go to Hanover, to compliment his Majeſty upon his Arrival in his German Dominions. Yeſterday the Jew Zumbel, Envoy from the Emperor of Morocco, embarked with his little Retinue on board the Chriſtianburgh Frigate, which is to reconduct him into his Country. Nothing is ſaid about the Succeſs of his Negociations.

Paris, May 22 The Parliament ſeems reſolved to abide by their Reſolution of proſecuting vigorouſly thoſe ſchiſmatical Eccleſiaſticks, who have refuſed the Sacraments to ſuch as they pleaſe to term Janſeniſts; and that this Affair ſhall be determined, happen what may: All the other Parliaments of the Kingdom concur with them herein.

A Curate of Vennes in Britanny, refuſing to baptize an Infant, under Pretence that the Godfather was a Janſeniſt, the Baptiſm was thereby ſo long delayed, that the Child died without it: Whereupon the Relations brought their Complaint againſt the Curate before the Parliament, who have ordered him to be apprehended, and ſentenced him to be branded in the Forehead by the Hands of the common Hangman.

Berlin, May 23. The King has received from Mr. Pollman, his Miniſter at Ratiſbon, a full Account of the Deliberation in the Dyet about the Affair of Eaſt Frieſland, and the Proteſt delivered by the ſaid Miniſter on that Occaſion; and his Majeſty has juſt ſent him freſh Orders, which are ſaid to be extremely preciſe, and which cannot fail of rendering this Affair ſtill more intereſting, and worthy of the whole Germanick Body's moſt ſerious Attention.

Ratiſbon, May 24. The Affair of Eaſt Frieſland continues to make a great Noiſe. The King of Great-Britain, in Quality of Elector of Hanover, having deſired it ſhould be taken into Conſideration, the Dyet proceeded thereto a few Days ago. The Miniſter of Brandenburgh, pretending he ought to have been previouſly acquainted with this Step, has in Conſequence delivered a Proteſt to the States of the Empire, drawn up in very ſtrong Terms. The Publick is vaſtly impatient to ſee the Iſſue of this Affair.

Ratiſbon, May 25. The Affair of Eaſt Frieſland is ſtill vigorouſly puſhed in the Dyet. Since the firſt Steps taken on this Subject by the Electoral Envoy of Hanover, this Miniſter has referred to the Conſideration of the Colleges of the Empire, Whether it would not be proper, that on the Part of Brandenburgh, the Suffrage of Eaſt Frieſland ſhould be proviſionally renounced, till the Affair be legally ſettled by the Emperor in his Aulick Council? The principal Reaſon, on the Part of Hanover for inſiſting on this, is, that the Houſe of Brandenburgh's Poſſeſſion has not yet been acknowledged as valid; that it is diſputed not only by the Electoral Houſe of Brunſwick, but alſo by collateral Pretenders to the Succeſſion of Eaſt Frieſland, ſuch as the Houſe of Lichtenſtein, to mention no others; and that it hence follows, according to the Laws, Conſtitutions and Uſages of the Empire, that a ſimple Poſſeſſor, whoſe Poſſeſſion is moreover conteſted, cannot have a Seat nor Vote in the Colleges of the Empire, without infringing the ſame Laws, Uſages and Conſtitutions.

Vienna May 17. The Court has received by a Courier from Madrid the Treaty which was ſigned in regard to Italy, which has been communicated to the Earl of Hyndford. The Treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle is confirmed, in reſpect to what concerns the contracting Parties. The Succours which they ſhall reſpectively furniſh, in caſe of Neceſſity, for the Defence of thoſe Poſſeſſions, is regulated, viz. The Empreſs Queen 6000 Men; the Emperor, as Grand Duke of Tuſcany, 6000 Men; the King of Spain, 6000 Men; the King of the Two Sicilies, 6000 Men; and the Infant Duke of Parma, 1600 Men.

Copenhagen, May 26. The King being intent on putting his Marine on a better Footing, tho' it is already in a very good Condition, has reſolved to ſend two experienced Officers to viſit the principal Ports and Harbours in Europe; which Officers are Meſſrs. Krabbe and Kaas, who, beſides their uſual Pay, are to have 800 Crowns a Year, for Travelling Charges. Several Officers are gone to raiſe Recruits in the Imperial Cities for his Majeſty's Troops.

Hague May 15. The States of Holland are ſeparated, without having taken any Reſolution, either in reſpect to foreign Affairs, as the Acceſſion to the Triple Alliance of the North, about which their High Migntineſſes have been much ſollicited, or in regard to the interior Affairs of the Republick, ſuch as the Incorporation of the Regiments and Commerce. It is aſſured, that their Noble and Great Mightineſſes have made a conſiderable Progreſs in the Meaſures neceſſary to be taken with the Admiralties, in relation to the Declaration of the Free Port, inſomuch that there is the utmoſt Reaſon to hope that their Noble and Great Mightineſſes, at their Return to Buſineſs, will take ſuch a Reſolution upon this important Subject as the Patriots have expected near ſix Months, and which becomes every Day more than other neceſſary, by Reaſon of the Steps which the Neighbours of the Republick take to cauſe Trade to flouriſh with them, and to draw ſome Branch of it from the State. On the other Hand, the diſgraceful Circumſtances which the Hamburghers lie under with Spain, is another Motive for preſſing the Eſtabliſhment of a Free Port, by Means whereof we ſhall be able to curb the Ambition of the Merchants of that City, who have only begun, within a few Years, to take Advantage of the falſe Steps private Intereſt has cauſed us to commit in our Commerce and Navigation.

LONDON, May 2.

There is ſomething very remarkable in the Story of a Gentleman who lately ſtabb'd himſelf in Lincoln's Inn Hall: Some Years ago he was obliged to abſcond from his Creditors, and to go abroad, and much about the ſame Time the Mail was robbed, and the Perſon who robbed it had taken Shelter at the ſame Place; he found Means to betray the Robber, and bring him over to England, upon the Conviction of whom he received Two Hundred Pounds from the Poſt-Office, Part of which he gave to his Creditors, and kept the Remainder. This ſo enraged one of the Creditors, that he refuſed to ſign his Certificate; and as only one ſtood out, he had preferred a Petition to the Lord Chancellor, that he might be cleared; but becauſe the Affair was not then determined he attempted his own Life. When the Surgeon came to dreſs his Wounds, he aſked him if they were mortal; and on his anſwering in the Negative, he ſaid he was ſorry for it, and wiſhed they had reached his Heart.

May 21. Letters from Spain and Oporto mention, that Trade is prodigious bad, that the Markets are ſo glutted with Engliſh Woollen Goods, that they are ſold 20 per Cent. under prime Coſt; and that there are more Goods now at their Markets, than will be ſold theſe 15 Months, occaſioned by the large Quantity of French Woollen Goods. If our Trade is not better conducted, what will our Farmers do with their Wool, which is now fallen in Price 30s. a Pack? And if our Trade is not better taken Care of, our Wool will be worth very little; a melancholly Thing to think of,---the Bulwark of our Country.

We hear from Haverfordweſt, that they are going to open a very large Herring Fiſhery there, and are building ſeveral new Buſſes for that Purpoſe. And that they are alſo going to open a conſiderable Weſt-India Trade, being now building a large Key, and ſeveral Warehouſes at Nayland, near Pembroke Ferry, for that laudable Purpoſe.----Ariſing from a Spirit of Emulation, worthy the Imitation of all the mercantile Parts of Great-Britain.

Great Quantities of Corn being daily exported from hence into foreign Parts, has conſiderably riſen the Price thereof in ſeveral Parts of the Country, altho' there are Proſpects of fine Crops the enſuing Seaſon.

On Tueſday laſt an extraordinary Affair happened in Goſwell-ſtreet: A Fellow who drove a Cart, ſitting on the Copſe drinking with ſeveral others, ſaw his Wife, whom he had left for another Woman, ſome Years, through the Window of an oppoſite Houſe, ironing Linnen: Upon which he ſwore the moſt horrible Oaths, that he would murder her that Night, for he hated her; but at that Inſtant the Horſes took Fright, and gave a ſudden Start that threw him under the Wheel, which ran along his Body, and over his Head, and tore him all to Pieces in the moſt miſerable Manner, ſo that the Sounds of his Words were ſcarce heard, when he could utter no more.

May 23. By a private Letter from St. Kitts, we hear, that a very great Mortality prevails there amongſt People of all Ages, much greater than ever was known in the Memory of the oldeſt Man in the Iſland.

May 26. They write from Leghorn, that the News of the Concluſion of the Treaty of Madrid has been received with great Joy by the Merchants of that City, eſpecially as their Correſpondents in Spain have ſent them Advice, that in Conſequence of the Engagements entered into by that Treaty, Ships freighted with the Products and Manufactures of Tuſcany will be admitted to trade freely in all the Ports of that Kingdom, and that Spaniſh Veſſels are to enjoy the ſame Privilege in the Ports of Tuſcany.

If we may depend upon the laſt Letters from Hanover, the Ceremonial of the Election of the King of the Romans, is actually regulated, and all the Diſputes between the Courts of Vienna and Mayheim, in a fair Way of being adjuſted; but the Buſineſs of Eaſt Frieſland is ſtill upon the Tenterhooks. Theſe Advices add, that for ſome Weeks paſt a great many have died at Hanover of a contagious Fever, but that it is at preſent abated.

Charles Town, in South-Carolina, July 18.

The late Winter and Spring, with such Part of the present Summer which is elapsed, have proved the driest Seasons ever known in this Province; by which the Crop of Indian Corn (which is our Negroes Provision) has suffered incredibly, nay is thought to be ruin'd. Most of the fresh Water Rivers are now salt up to their very Heads; the People in many Plantations are obliged to send to others for Water, and in many again there is none to be had for the Creatures; neither is there any on the Roads: ('Tis said, a Proclamation will soon be issued, appointing a Day of publick Fasting and Humiliation, on this melancholy Occasion.) At the same Time the Weather is so excessive hot, that Fahrenheit's best Thermometers shew'd it to be, Yesterday, at 98 Degrees in the Shade, and 126 in the open Air: The same Thermometers, at 2 a Clock this Afternoon, are at 100 Degrees in the Shade.

ANNAPOLIS, July 23.

For a Week past we have scarcely had a Day without Lightning and Thunder; which, in several Places, has done much Damage.

On Thursday last, the House of Mr. Gerard Hopkins, near the Head of South River, was struck by the Lightning; which almost demolished one of the Gable Ends, and beat down two Children, who happily received no other Hurt.

On Friday the Lightning fell on the House of Mr. Homewood, on the North Side of Severn, and tore off the Wainscot in several Rooms.

And on Saturday Evening we had as violent a Gust as any that can be remember'd, accompanied as usual with Lightning and Thunder, which struck several Places in this City; particularly the House of Benedict Calvert, Esq; taking off Part of the Top of a Chimney, and descending between the Chimney and the Wainscot (which last it split in two of the Rooms.) It set Fire to a Bed where Mr. Calvert and his Lady usually lay, but they happened providentially to be out of Town; and the House and Furniture would undoubtedly have been consumed, had it not been timely discovered by a Servant in the Family, who about 9 a Clock was going up to Bed: It melted the Blade of a Hanger in the same Room, to which it communicated a magnetick Quality, so as to take up a Needle. The Lightning then descended into a lower Room, and split a Looking-glass in Pieces, and the Handle of a Broom at the Head of the Cellar Stairs.---Mr. Inch's House was also struck, one of the Chimneys split, and some of the Bricks carried as far as the Guns; three Persons sitting near the Fire-place were much affected by it, but received little Hurt.---A large Poplar Tree, near the Head of the Dock, was much shatterd, and set on Fire; which, after it had burnt near an Hour, was quenched by People, who carried up Water for that Purpose.

On Sunday Night last, and on Monday, several Persons were committed to the publick Goal in this City, on Suspicion of dealing with, and encouraging Negroes to rob their Masters of Tobacco, Store Goods, &c. This Scene of Villainy has, it seems, been for a long Time carried on; and Warrants are issued for apprehending several other Persons supposed to be concerned therein.

July 30. Last Saturday arrived from London, after a Passage of seven Weeks, Capt. Nicholas Stephenson, in the Ship Speedwell; who has brought with him forty indented Servants.

Monday last in the Afternoon, there was a very violent Gust of Lightning and Thunder, in Baltimore County, which struck the House of Mrs. Buchanan, Widow of the late Dr. Buchanan, about three Miles from Baltimore Town; whereby Mrs. Buchanan was struck speechless for some Time, and a young Woman, Miss Elizabeth Gill, who liv'd with Mrs. Buchanan as a Companion, and was sitting at work in the same Room with her, was instantly struck dead. Two Negroes were likewise struck down in the Kitchen, but the Building received no Damage. A Decanter standing on a Chest of Drawers was split in Pieces, and a large China Bowl was flung to the Ground without being broke or crack'd.

BOSTON, August 3.

It is remarkable, that from Tuesday the 21st of July, to Tuesday the 28th of July, there were but four Persons buried in this Town; which is as low a Number as has been known for several Years.---Two of the said Persons died of the Small-Pox.

Besides the Damage done by the Lightning Wednesday was sev'night, as has been heretofore related, we hear that a hopeful young Man, belonging to Braintree, named---Spear, aged about 21 Years, was killed thereby at Swanzey.

Piscataqua, July 31. 1752.

Our last Advices from Louisburgh (alias Placentia-Nova) say, That at Canada 'tis very sickly among the Inhabitants there, and a great Mortality amongst the Cattle:---That the Governor is obliged to have his House double guarded, and dare not come out of it for fear of the People, who are so incensed against him on the Account of his ill Usage to 'em, that they threaten to send him back to France in Irons if they catch him.

NEW-YORK, August 10.

By Capt. Haviland, who arrived here last Thursday Night from Madeira, we have Advice, that the latter End of June last, His Majesty's Ships the Advice, Commodore Pye, of 50 Guns, with General Matthews on board; the Fowey, Capt. Young, of 20 Guns, and the Jason, of 40 Guns, with Col. Hopton, Governor of Nova-Scotia, arrived at that Island from England; the two first bound for the West-Indies, and the latter for Halifax. They staid but a Day or two at Madeira, and then proceeded on their Voyage. ---We hear the Jason is to relieve the Torrington Man of War, now at Halifax, and the Torrington then to proceed to New-York.

We have an Account from Schenectady, that a few Days ago, the only Son of Mr. Johannes Bradt of that Town, as he was getting his Harvest into the Barn, jump'd off of the Mow on to the Waggon, where a Pitchfork lay unseen, the Prongs of which unhappily ran into his Belly, so that he died in a few Hours after.

Capt. White who arrived here last Week from Providence, informs us, That Capt. Shourt, in a Schooner belonging to this Port, bound to the Musketo Shore, is cast away on Walker's Key; the Vessel entirely lost; but the People were all happily taken off by a Sloop, and carried into Providence.

This Day is published, the SECOND EDITION, of

By LEWIS EVANS.

The Determination of the Bounds of Pensilvania and Mariland, by a Decree in Chancery; a new Purchase made of the Indians, and the Erecting four new Counties in Pensilvania, since the first Publication of the Map, have made this Edition necessary. And Care has been taken to supply the Omissions, and to rectify the Errors which have escaped in the former Impression; and the South Side of Lake Ontario is now added.

The several Provinces and Counties are distinguished in the plain Maps by Division Lines, and in the colour'd Ones, by different Colours.

Besides what are common to other Maps, as the Sea-Coast, Rivers, Creeks, Mountains, Roads, intermediate Distances of Places, and the Situation of Cities, Towns, Villages, &c. there are inserted in this, how far the Tide runs up the several Rivers, and the Time of High-water, Full and Change, of the greatest Use in Commerce; the Variation of the Needle, by several accurate Observations, and the Rate of its Decrease, of Use in adjusting old Surveys of Land; the greatest Length of Days and Nights; a Table of the Distances between the most considerable Towns; besides the Barometrical and Thermometrical Observations, Accounts of the Weather in this Climate, the Production of Lightning and Fogs accounted for; with several other Articles recommended by the Curious to the Enquiry of Travellers.

The Smalness of this Map has been very often objected to the Author; but if Gentlemen would consider, that they seldom have seen Maps of any Parts of Europe to a larger Scale, and that there is not a City, Town, or even a village of six Houses within the Compass of this Map, that are not inserted in it, and that Pensilvania, as far as tolerably settled, which is between Delaware River, the Lower Counties, Mariland, and the Kittatinny Mountains, tho' now divided into eight Counties, is not of Extent equal to Yorkshire in South-Britain, they would be induced to think a larger Map impertinent; if they did not expect it for other Uses than Geography, Physics, History and Commerce.

The Price of the plain Maps is One Spanish Dollar; of the colour'd Ones, on superfine Writing-paper, Two Dollars; and there are a few on fine Callico, at a Dollar and a Half each.

In Justice to the Buyers of the former Impression, their colour'd Maps, tho' torn or defaced, will be exchanged for the new Edition at Five Shillings, and their plain Ones at Two Shillings and Six-pence.

To be sold or exchanged by the Author in Arch-street, and at the New-Printing Office, in Market-street, Philadelphia; by Mr. James Parker, Printer at New-York, and by Mr. Samuel Holland, Printer at Lancaster.

IT is astonishing, that Man, the most noble Being of the Creation, should have so many Imperfections as we find him surrounded with. It seems that there is always Something which he wants, since no Moment in Life passes without some Desires. Every Thing he sees, every Thing he hears, and every Thing he thinks of, excites in his Heart so many Passions as nothing can extinguish, which it is almost impossible for him to gratify; his Weakness cannot answer to the Vivacity of his Imagination, nor can his Imagination furnish the Means satisfying those; a perpetual Uneasiness devours him, which nothing but Hope can satisfy.

Though frequently unhappy in his Projects, yet Man is very easily bent upon them; and even the Misfortune of having failed therein, does, for the most Part, serve him as a fresh Motive to prosecute them. This Thirst which he cannot quench, and which constantly burns within him; these Desires always insatiable, and which he is never sure of satisfying, would be to him no doubt a terrible Punishment, without the Hope of Success, with which he flatters himself, and which at least renders him happy by the Idea he forms to himself, that he cannot fail of being so.

In Fact, Hope never leads him but through agreeable Roads, even to the farther End, where it is forced to leave him; it alone has the Power of taking from him the Sense of the present, when unpleasing, and of anticipating as present the happy Time to come, where it proposes to arrive. However distant soever the pleasing Object be, Hope brings it nigh; so that we enjoy a Happiness, while we hope for it; if we miss it, we still hope for it; we come to possess it, we promise ourselves we shall always do so. Happy or unhappy, Hope supports and animates us; And such is the Inability of human Affairs, that even Hope justifies Projects the most adventurous, since, by continual Vicissitudes of good and ill Fortune, we have no more Reason to fear what we hate, than to hope for what we desire.

May we not say truly, that Hope is to us like a second Life, which sweetens the Bitterness of that which we enjoy, from the Hands of our Creator: But farther, it is the Soul of the Universe, a Spring the most powerful to maintain the Harmony thereof. It is by Hope that the whole World governs itself. Would Laws be enacted, if Mankind did not hope a wise Policy from them? Would we see obedient Subjects, if each Individual did not by his Submission, flatter himself to contribute to the Happiness of his Country? What should become of the Arts, and how useless would they be reckoned, without the Hopes of the good Effects the World should reap from them? Would not the Sciences be neglected? Would not Talents be uncultivated, and the most happy Genius's sink to a brutal Rudeness, without the flattering Hopes of a surer and a more refined Taste in every Thing that it concerns us to know?

If you ask the Soldier, what makes him expose himself so often to the Hazards of Days, which he might render less perilous or more easy? He will tell you, that it is the Hope of Glory which he highly prizes, and which he prefers to the melancholy Softness of a Life spent in an obscure Languor.

The Merchant traverses the Seas, but he hopes to indemnify himself by his Riches, for the Fears which he has undergone amidst the Storms and the Rocks. The Husbandman, bent down upon his Plough, waters the Ground with his Sweat; but this very Ground is to feed him; and he would give himself no Trouble to cultivate it, if he did not certainly expect the Reward of his Labour.

Whatever be our Undertakings, Hope is the Motive to them; it is the Foretaste of our Success, and is, at least, for some Time, a real Blessing in Default of that which escapes us. It is an anticipated Joy, which is sometimes delusive; but which, while it lasts, affords a Pleasure that is no ways inferior to the Enjoyment of that which we promise ourselves, and which often effaces the Memory of all the Sweets we have already tasted in the most happy Situation.

And how could we quietly enjoy Life, if we did not live from one Day to another in Hopes of prolonging it? There are none, down to sick Persons, even in the most desperate Case, that are not shocked at the Approach of Death, and who have not Hopes of Recovery almost in the very Moment they are expiring. We even carry our Hopes beyond the Grave, and, at the Time when we are endeavouring to render ourselves immortal among Mankind, full of this standing Idea, we are the more disposed to lose ourselves irrecoverably in the Abyss of Eternity.

From the UNIVERSAL MAGAZINE.

REFLECTIONS on HAPPINESS, wherein it consists, and the Method of attaining it.

Remember, Man, the universal Cause
Acts not by partial, but by general Laws;
And makes what Happiness we justly call
Subsist not in the Good of one, but all. POPE.

AS it is natural for Man to endeavour to render himself happy from the Moment he begins to breathe the vital Air, and as this Passion is so predominant that Life itself becomes a Burden when it cannot be gratified, nothing, certainly, is more necessary than to know wherein true Happiness consists, and the Use we ought to make of it.

Happiness seems to present itself on every Side; but we either fail in our Endeavours to attain it, or, from the Apprehension of losing it, we cannot enjoy it with Tranquility.

But it generally happens that Men imagine Happiness where it is not, and judge of it only by their own particular Taste and Caprice. Some make it to consist in gratifying their Passions, others in conquering them; but the Generality find it only in those Passions which flatter them, and which they are always very assiduous to indulge.

The ambitious Man, tho' he abounds in the Goods of Fortune, beholds them with Indifference, and only pursues Honour, which has more than once deceived him: Whilst the covetous Man, who has not the least Desire of Honour, aspires only at Riches, which he believes alone capable of rendering him happy.

One is pleased with Toil and Labour; another finds no Satisfaction but in Repose and Indolence; one is looked upon as happy, who is far from being so; and another as unhappy, who perhaps enjoys it in the greatest Perfection.

Let us imagine a Person crowned with Happiness, but confined within himself, and detached from all Commerce with Mankind. If he has acquired a large Share of Reputation, will he feel the Satisfaction of it, when he has no body to admire him? Suppose him possessed of the most affluent Fortune, will he esteem himself happy, when he finds himself reduced to the Necessity of not being able to use it? Let him be endowed with the greatest and most penetrating Genius, he will be often dissatisfied, and, like a flaming Substance which acts upon itself, his Genius will be consumed by its own Fire. If he has the most exalted Sentiments and Virtue, he will indeed be conscious of his Talents, but will have Reason to doubt whether he can reduce them to Practice; and they are of no Use to him, because he cannot render them serviceable.

From these uncontested Truths let us draw this necessary Conclusion, that a Man cannot of himself be happy, and that his Felicity will always be in Proportion as it extends and diffuses itself to others. It is true, that sometimes it is sufficient to believe ourselves happy, in order to be so; and that an immoderate self-love may procure us Satisfaction, even in the most frivolous Things; but this Self-love, the Chief of all Flatterers, seduces us only by persuading us that we may deceive others; and it would seldom impose upon us, if it did not represent us as amiable in the Eyes of our Acquaintance, as it makes us appear in our own.

It is therefore from the Esteem of others that we value ourselves, and the Happiness we cannot find in our own Breast, we endeavour to find among those with whom we are conversant. But how much more will this Happiness, which in some Measure we are forced to beg of others, be secure to us, when we shall have acquired it by our Beneficence; when we shall endeavour to render those happy who alone can make us so? For the Happiness which is procured to others cannot fail of rejoicing the generous Heart which produced it. It is a River, which, after having watered a dry and hungry Soil, returns to its Source, in order to flow afresh. The Blessings that are enjoyed may escape the Possessor's Hands, but those which flow from Charity, tho' subject to the capricious Vicissitudes of Fortune, are always permanent, from the Pleasure of having made them subservient to the Happiness of others.

This is the Voice of Nature herself. It is she that teaches us, that it is impossible by any other Method to be happy. Has Providence blessed us with Children? We are concerned for their Preservation, and willingly forget ourselves, in order to procure what is useful or necessary for their Improvement.

We may place almost in the same Light all those whom we render happy; they are our adopted Children; it is from our Beneficence that their Lives are rendered comfortable, which would otherwise have been consumed in Distress and Misery.

Can there be a more sensible Pleasure than that of procuring to unfortunate Mortals those Favours and Assistances which they must receive from their Fellow-creatures, who are intrusted with them by the God of Nature? By this Means we co-operate with his Goodness, perform Part of his Office, and raise ourselves above the State of Humanity.

The sole Inconvenience consists in rendering Persons ungrateful. But has Ingratitude the Power of diminishing the Value of Beneficence? No, it places it in a more conspicuous Point of Light, and causes it to shine with greater Lustre.

Good Actions alone procure that Pleasure which is unattended with Remorse, Pain, or bitter Reflection; and it is the only one that is permanent. All other Pleasures by a constant Use are rendered insipid; but this increases and becomes more sensible every Day. How unworthy the Name of rational Creatures are those who found their Happiness solely on the Misery of others, and who, being corroded with detestable Envy, make the Happiness of their Neighbour an eternal Source of Misery? We cannot reflect on such infamous Characters without being struck with Horror and Detestation, which undeniably proves, that the greatest Happiness solely consists in procuring that of others; and that, in order to render ourselves truly happy, we must constantly endeavour to promote that of our Fellow-creatures.

From a very late English News-Paper.

THE Bickerings between Muscovy and Sweden having of late so much engross'd the Attention of the Publick, and as they are founded on a nice Point of very uncommon Jealousy between these two Nations, I have thought it worth while to enquire a little more particularly into the Nature of them; for it must certainly seem a strange Paradox, that the Muscovites should have a more real Concern for the national Interests of Sweden than the native Swedes themselves; and tho' this, upon first View, must appear to be the true State of the Case, yet upon strict Enquiry it will be found to be far otherwise.

We all know, after the Death of CHARLES the XIIth, that romantick and warrior King of Sweden, who, during his Life had exercised a tyrannick Despotism over his People, and by his Arms, at one Time, had reduced the Muscovites to the last Extremity; that the Swedes established a free Government of King, Lords, and Commons, in their Country, which they called their Senate; hugging themselves with the Thoughts of the Halcyon Days they were to enjoy by such a Change, and under so happy a State of Freedom. But these flattering Hopes did not sooth them long; for, in a very short Time, they found their 600 Senators carried it with as high a Hand, as their King CHARLES, and this with a far greater Expence of Government to themselves, and not with Half the Credit and Lustre they enjoyed while under the sole Dominion of a single Monarch. And indeed, if the Information of a Swedish Gentleman of some Note in his Country may be relied on, from whom I had the following Particulars, there cannot be a People under more wretched Circumstances than the Swedes at present. What he told me concerning them, was as follows; and this I shall repeat as near as possible, in the very Words as he related it, for I confess the same made a very strong Impression on me.

"The Swedes, said he, are so greatly degenerated; and such excessive Drunkenness, and every Kind of Debauchery, has so tainted the Morals of the once good Swedish People, that it may be truly said of us, there is not any one Nation under the Sun more addicted to all Sorts of Vice and Extravagance than we are at present. From hence it is that you read of the innumerable Robberies and Murders committed daily amongst us, of our Profaneness, our Immorality, our Contempt of all Laws Divine and Human, and in short, of the general Depravity that runs thro' the whole Nation from the highest to the lowest; with which the Clergy themselves are infected. And whilst religious Decency and due Regard is thus lost to the Church in one Profession, the Spirit of the Soldiery is degenerating in Proportion to the Growth of their Licentiousness: And in a third Profession, the sole Use of our Law is to enrich the Lawyers, who taking Advantage of Distresses, to multiply Contentions, by the exorbitant Fees that they take, and the ruinous Procrastination of Causes which they pretend to support, are hastening apace the Ruin of Individuals, escaping the Attention of the Publick, unobserved amidst the general Confusion, like Rogues who after robbing a House set it on Fire, in order to get off thro' the Flames.

Our Domestick Manufactures are daily decaying, at the same Time that our Foreign Trade and the Interest of our Nation is neglected. This it is that makes us so contemptible in the Eyes of other States of Europe, and this it is that encourages our restless and potent Neighbours of Muscovy, to despise and insult us. At length, however, the Eyes of our long deluded People seem to be opening; while the Muscovites, those ambitious and ever enterprising Neighbours, taking Advantage of our Domestick Confusions and Diversions, are daily bullying and menacing us, encroaching upon our finest Provinces, and running away with the most profitable Branches of our Trade. And if they can but keep up the present Depravity for a few Years longer among us, there is no Doubt but in the End they will become Masters of our whole Country; a Scheme which from the Beginning they ever had in View, and what they could never compass by their Arms they now seem in a fair Way of soon attaining by their Arts, especially as we see them advancing in equal Degrees as we are declining."

This is what my Swedish Friend assured me was a real Representation of the present State of this unhappy Country; and this, if true, I think sufficiently accounts for the seeming Paradox of the Muscovites present friendly Zeal for the Interests of the Swedish People. God preserve us of this Island from such enterprizing Neighbours; and that this may never be our melancholly Case, is the hearty Wish of, BRITANNICUS.

Kingston, in Jamaica, June 27.

Saturday last arrived Commodore Coates, on board the Severn of 50 Guns, to take upon him the Command of his Majesty's Ships station'd here, in the Room of the Hon. George Townshend, who, we hear, soon intends to sail for England. The same Day came in the Viper Sloop of War, from a Cruize of some Months.

July 4. Some Time in March last, a Sloop from Barbados, bound for the Island of St. Lucia, having fallen to Leeward, and running short of Water and Provisions, saw to their great Comfort, a Sloop, which they made Sail for, and came up with, when they found her to be a Spanish Sloop; and telling them the Hardships they were in, both for Want of Water and other Provisions, they sent their Canoe on Board, with some fresh Water; and told the Barbados Man, at the same Time, that if he would go along with him to Carthagena, they would supply him with what other Provisions he wanted, which he very readily complied with: But to the Barbados Man's great Surprize, the Captain of the Spanish Sloop sent his Canoe on Board, as soon as they came into the Harbour, mann'd and arm'd, and demanded all his Papers, telling him he was his lawful Prize; which, when the Barbados Captain finding himself thus decoyed, complied with: The Spaniards took Possession of his Sloop, and soon disposed of the most valuable Part of the Cargoe.

The Barbados Captain brought an Action against the Spaniard, for his Vessel and Cargoe, when he told him, he might have her again, with what Part of the Cargoe was then remaining, which the Barbados Captain refused, and continued his Law-Suit; the Result of which we have not yet learned, altho' we may easily conclude what it will be, from many Precedents of the like Kind.

This Day the ingenious Mr. Tom Bell, the famous American Traveller, made his publick Appearance in this City.---As his former Character and romantick Life, have made a great Noise in every American Colony, 'twill doubtless be a Satisfaction to all who have any Knowledge of him, to hear in what Manner he has liv'd, during his Retirement from the Publick.---He has resided in Hanover County, in this Colony, near two Years past, in the private Station of a School-master, and has, during that Time, behaved himself with Justice, Sobriety and good Manners, of which he has produced a Certificate, sign'd by the principal Gentlemen of that County. By this his Behaviour, and his future Conduct, he hopes to wipe off the Odium that his former Manner of Life had fixed on him, and thereby to approve himself a useful Member of Society.

July 24. On Monday last the famous TOM BELL, after staying here some Days, left this Place without Molestation, intending for his School in Hanover.---If this Man, after the many Pranks he has play'd, is really sincere in his Professions of Reformation, and his Intention of living an honest and industrious Life, it may perhaps be a Surprize to many, who are apt to say, Can the Æthiopean change his Skin, or the Leopard his Spots; then also may he do Good that has been accustomed to do Evil.

On the seventeenth Instant died, at Eden-house in North Carolina, His Excellency, Gabriel Johnston, Esq; Governor of that Province.

HALIFAX, in Nova-Scotia, July 25.

Since our last arrived here two Snows from Holland, but last from Portsmouth, with Swedes and Germans, and more are daily expected (it is said to the Number of 1400.) And we hear that a considerable Number of them are to be employed in Works for the Benefit of the Government; and the Remainder, with other Germans who are already here, will be sent to some Part of Malagash this Fall to settle there, and clear the Land this Winter, in order to take the first Opening of the Spring to sow and plant such Things as shall be thought most necessary for the Benefit of the Inhabitants of this Government. And as by the best Accounts we have had of that Place, the Soil is very fertile, and has been known to have produc'd great Crops, we hope that by this Scheme, with the divine Blessing, to have all Kinds of Vegetables of our own Produce, and to have them cheaper than what we have done: Therefore it is hoped, for the Good of this Province, this Proposition will not meet with any Disappointment. The great Encouragement that is offer'd for clearing and manuring our Lands must certainly be a strong Motive to every one to exercise their best Endeavours, in order to intitle them to partake of the Benefit of it.

August 1. On Sunday last his Excellency Governor Hobson arrived here, in his Majesty's Ship Jason, of 40 Guns, and on Monday his Excellency landed under the Discharge of the Cannon from on board the Ships in the Harbour, and from the Parade; his Excellency was received on the Beach, by a Number of the Gentlemen of the Army and other Gentlemen, who waited on him to the Governor's House, where he was handsomely receiv'd,

Extract of a Letter from Rochester, in the County of Plymouth.

"On the 22d of July last, the House of Mr. Ebenezer Barlow was much damaged by Lightning;---it was shattered exceedingly from End to End, from Top to Bottom; but, through the Goodness of God, no Lives destroy'd, except that of a Dog, who lay just without the House, altho' most of the People in it were slightly hurt, and a Lad was struck to the Ground, at near a Quarter of a Mile's Distance, by the same Clap.---As to the Effects of the Lightning, they were so extraordinary as not to admit of a particular Description; but in general, a great Part of the Roof was rent off; some of the Rafters shiver'd to Pieces; others removed out of their Places without being hurt; and one carried from the West, and left partly out of the East End of the Garret; the Shingles were carried to a great Height in the Air, and scattered all abroad, and some of them, with other broken Pieces of the House, were lodged upon the Apple Trees; and this was the more remarkable, as there was, at that Time, no Wind to carry them away, and must therefore be ascribed to the strange Force of the Lightning; it also forced the Ceiling below from the Sills, and left many large Holes in several Parts of the House, and particularly one, thro' which a large Chest was stove into Pieces; and when it left the House it made one or two Furrows in the Ground therefrom, and then dissipated.---

---Is it not then expected of all natural, as well as moral Agents, when such awful Instances and Effects of divine Power are display'd in open Light, that they should view and admire them, only as little Specimens of what that Being can do, who is Almighty?---That they learn to 'fear the Lord and his Goodness;' to acknowledge that their Lives are in his Hands, that they are intirely indebted to Him for all their near Escapes from Death, and to improve them to the great and excellent Purposes, for which they were given and continued?---How often do his Arrows pierce our strongest Habitations, and rend them into Pieces, while our feeble Lives are preserved in them at the same Time?---'Come, behold the Works of the Lord, what Desolations he has made!'---'Whoso is wise will observe these Things.'---When his Arrows composed of darted Flame, come flying all around us, how suddenly could they drink up our vital Spirits, if he should give them a Commission, and leave our Bodies breathless and prostrate on the Ground! 'Let Sinners in Zion therefore be afraid' to cast Contempt upon a God of such Power, who is able to destroy them in a Moment, and in the Twinkling of an Eye, to dispatch their guilty Souls to unquenchable Flames: And let the Ungodly consider, that when the Elements are in mighty Agitation, and the Arrows of the Almighty are flying all abroad, quick to destroy them, they have no Refuge to resort to: But 'the Name of the Lord is a strong Tower,' and it is the Property only of the Righteous to run into it, and find Safety and Comfort."

The same Afternoon the Province-Hospital, on Rainsford Island, was struck, and pretty much shatter'd by the Lightning, and a Dog kill'd and another struck blind thereby.

BOSTON, August 10.

A Gentleman at New-London, in the Colony of Connecticut, writes to his Friend in Boston, that one Mr. Hall, who came Passenger in a Vessel lately arrived there from London, informs him, that before he left that City, his Excellency Governor Shirley arrived there from Paris.

Thursday last came to Town by Land from Canada, Thomas Stannard, who gives us the following Account, viz. That about 15 Months ago, he (with several others) was taken Captive by the Indians, when they attack'd the new-settled Town of Dartmouth, opposite to Halifax, in Nova-Scotia, and carried Captives to Canada; and that he, with seven others, taken at Times and Places, was recovered out of the Hands of the French, by Capt. Stevens, who was sent to Canada by this Government last Winter, to redeem as many of our unhappy Countrymen from their Captivity as he could.----That they travelled by Land from Canada, to Deerfield in this Province, where they separated, in order to go to their respective Places of Abode.---That they left Mr. Nathaniel Wheelwright, of this Town (who accompanied Capt. Stevens in his tedious Journey to Canada) at Albany, who may soon be expected here.

Our Informer, who is a very intelligent Person, further says, that Provisions are exceeding scarce in Canada, and that the People are under terrible Apprehensions of a Famine, there having been little or no Rain for ten Months past; but contradicts the Story from Piscataqua, published in all the News-papers in Town, except one, of a Sickness amongst the Inhabitants, a great Mortality amongst the Cattle, and that the Governor kept his House double guarded, for fear of the People, &c. On the contrary, he says, that he was in Quebec all the Time of his Captivity, with full Liberty to go wherever he had Occasion, and he never heard of any Sickness among the People, or Mortality among the Cattle; that he never heard any Complaint against the Governor, who kept only one Centinel at his Door, which is the Custom of all their Governors.

We have Advice from New-London, that a Sloop is arriv'd there from the West-Indies, which has brought in the Crew of a Snow, ------Thompson Master, who in his Voyage from Jamaica to Liverpool, was cast away on the Hogsties, and both Vessel and Cargo lost.

NEW-YORK, August 17.

By Capt. Tudor, who arriv'd here last Week from Anguilla, we have Advice, that the French Guarda Costa's were cruising very thick about Guadaloup and Grandterre, and on Pretence of preventing any Assistance to a Gang of rebellious Negroes, attack all the English Vessels they meet:---That one Capt. Bass, being chased by two of them, he fought his Way through, and got off with his Mast wounded, and the Wyth of his Topping-lift shot away:---And that Capt. Symmons, in a Schooner belonging to St. Eustatia, was drove ashore by one of them, a Sloop of 10 Guns, when the Men escap'd, but the Schooner was got off again, and carried away by the Enemy.

Yesterday arriv'd here Capt. Seamour from Coracoa, by whom we learn that the Rumour of that Place being about to be attack'd, is not true; with him is come Capt. Stevenson, late of the Sloop Hunter-Morris, of this Port, who was cast away, the seventh of July last, on the Rocks of the Isle of Aves, the Vessel and Cargo lost, and the Men with Difficulty escaping with their Lives to Coracoa.

Last Tuesday Morning we had here a Thundergust, with some pretty sharp Lightning, a Clap of which struck the Main-mast of Capt. Menzie's Brig in our Harbour, and tore a Piece out of it almost from the Top to the Deck; so that they were obliged to get a new Mast. The People on board were struck with Surprize, but by good Providence no Lives were lost.

PHILADELPHIA, August 20.

By the HONOURABLE

JAMES HAMILTON, Esq; Lieutenant Governor, and Commander in Chief, of the Province of Pennsylvania, and Counties of Newcastle, Kent, and Sussex, on Delaware,

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS it appears to me, by sundry Depositions taken before Thomas Lawrence, Esq; one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the County of Philadelphia, that on Saturday, the first Instant, the Day John Thomas, and Eleanor Davis, were barbarously kill'd in her Dwelling-house in Chester County, three Men, Strangers, who had travell'd on Foot from Kent County, in the Province of Maryland, or some other Part of that Province, were seen very near the said Dwelling-house, under such particular Circumstances, as give very just Reason to suspect they committed those horrid Facts; which Suspicion is strongly confirm'd by their sudden disappearing after the Perpetration of the Crimes, altho' they had travell'd openly on the Highway for two Days before toward the said House.

And it appearing to me by the said Depositions, that one of the said Men was about Twenty-two Years of Age, tall, and very slender, thin visag'd, ill favour'd, of a swarthy or Sun-burnt Complexion, wore an old hat, Check Shirt, Trowsers, and a black or very dark colour'd Bear-skin Waistcoat, had a Sore or Wound almost on the Inside of his right Thigh, a little above his Knee; that he carried a long Wallet stuffed very full, and a Bundle of darkish colour'd Clothes; that he produced a Pass sign'd by a Person who he said was a Justice of the Peace in Kent County in Maryland, wherein he was call'd Thomas Kelly; under which Pass was a Certificate, as it appear'd, that the said Person was one of the Justices in Kent County in Maryland, sign'd by the Clerk of the same County, and attested by that County Seal.

That another of the said Men appeared to be about Twenty-five Years of Age, of a very fair, but not a ruddy Complexion, round fac'd, of middle siz'd Stature, but thick and well proportioned, had his Hair cut off, wore a good Hat, a white Cap, and Waistcoat, a fine white Linnen Shirt, Check Trowsers, very wide, but not long, a Pair of good Shoes, and large Silver Buckles; that he produced a Pass, as from a Justice of the Peace, living in Kent County aforesaid, and a Discharge from his Master, in the same County; the Pass was dated the 16th of July, 1752; it was wrote with very pale Ink, except the Figures (16*th*) the Justice's Name, and the Words (Kent County, in Maryland) on the left Side of the Pass, at Bottom, which were all wrote with black Ink; the Seal thereto was only a round Mark, made with Ink, placed at the End of the Justice's Name.

That the third Man appear'd to be about Thirty or Thirty-five Years of Age, tall, but not very slender, of a dark Complexion, thin visag'd, with a sharp Nose, wore his Hair, and had a black beard, walk'd bending forward, remarkably sticking out his Buttocks behind, and had an uncommon Kind of hobbling Gait; wore a rusty black, or very dark brown colour'd Waistcoat, a dark colour'd Cloth or Handkerchief tied round one of his Legs, as if it was sore, and bluish Kind of grey Stockings; carried a Bundle of Clothes, in which was a Coat, on one Side of a brown, the other of a grey Colour, but the Colour of the Out or Inside particularly, was not remembered, and that by their Manner of pronouncing English, they all appeared to be Natives of Ireland.

These are therefore, in his Majesty's Name, to require and command the Magistrates, Sheriffs, Constables, and Officers of Justice within this Province, and other his said Majesty's Liege Subjects inhabiting the same; and also to intreat all Governors of, and Magistrates, Officers, and Liege People residing in any of the neighbouring Provinces, to pursue and apprehend, or cause to be pursued and apprehended, the above described Persons, and them to secure, so that they may be examin'd and dealt with according to Law.

GIVEN under my Hand, and the Lesser Seal of the said Province, at Philadelphia, the eighteenth Day of August, in the Year of our Lord One Thousand Seven Hundred and Fifty-two, and in the Twenty-sixth Year of his Majesty's Reign.

JAMES HAMILTON.

By his Honour's Command,
RICHARD PETERS, Secretary. GOD save the KING.

ON the 15th Day of August, 1752, personally appeared before us, John Abraham Denormandie, and Alexander Graydon, Esquires, two of his Majesty's Justices of the Peace for said County, James Adair, of the Falls township, who being duly sworn, &c. did declare and say, "That as he, this Deponent, was travelling in his Wagon, between Bristol and his own House, on Wednesday, the 29th Day of July last, between the Hours of Five and Six a Clock of same Day, within about Half a Mile of his own House, he came up with a Man on Horseback, whose Name he afterwards learn'd to be Perot, who called to this Deponent, and begg'd him to unbind him, telling him he had been robb'd; this Deponent, supposing he only jested, replied, That perhaps he might charge him with the Robbery, if he unbound him; that upon this Deponent's asking his Wife, who was with him, what he had best to do? for that he believed he was a Rogue, she told him to do as he pleased; that this Deponent then went out of his Waggon, and found the said Perot sitting on his Horse, with his Hands bound under his Hams with a Garter, which, said Perot told him was his own Garter, wrapp'd several Times round his Wrists, but without any Knot tied on it; that the Wrists were swelled by the Tightness of the Binding: That the said Perot, after he was unbound, seemed to be very weak and faint, or pretended to be so, and said he could not ride; but by the Assistance of a Foot Traveller, who then come up, this Deponent helped the said Perot into his Waggon, and carried him to his House: That the said Perot told this Deponent, that two Men on Horseback, which said Perot described, had robb'd him of between Thirty and Forty Pistoles, Four Doubloons, and some Jewels and Necklaces, and that one of the Rogues had knocked him down from his Horse, by a Blow on the Head, altho' this Deponent, upon Examination, could not discover any Sign of Hurt, Wound, or Bruise in the Place where said Perot alledged he received the Blow. And this Deponent further saith, That on Wednesday the 12th of this instant August, the said Perot came to this Deponent's House, and desired him to go with him to Trenton, and declare before some Magistrate there, the Condition he had found the said Perot in, on the 29th Day of July last; that accordingly this Deponent did go with him before Theophilus Severns, Esq; in Trenton, where the said Perot did write a Paper, which was read to this Deponent, but not so distinctly that he could sufficiently apprehend the Meaning of it; and altho' this Deponent expressed an Unwillingness to sign said Paper, yet he was sollicited so much that at length he was prevailed upon to sign it, but refused to swear to it: That afterwards this Deponent being informed that he had been imposed on, in signing said Paper, he procured a Copy of the same, and now declares, That such Part of the Contents of said Paper which contradict this present Deposition, to be entirely false; and further this Deponent saith not. Containing the Freshest Advices, Foreign and Domestick.

PHILADELPHIA, August 27.

By the HONOURABLE

JAMES HAMILTON, Esq;

Lieutenant Governor, and Commander in Chief, of the Province of Pennsylvania, and Counties of Newcastle, Kent, and Sussex, on Delaware,

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS it appears to me, by sundry Depositions taken before Thomas Lawrence, Esq; one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the County of Philadelphia, that on Saturday, the first Instant, the Day John Thomas, and Eleanor Davis, were barbarously kill'd in her Dwelling-House in Chester County, three Men, Strangers, who had travell'd on Foot from Kent County, in the Province of Maryland, or some other Part of that Province, were seen very near the said Dwelling-House, under such particular Circumstances, as give very just Reason to suspect they committed those horrid Facts; which Suspicion is strongly confirm'd by their sudden disappearing after the Perpetration of the Crimes, altho' they had travell'd openly on the High-Way for two Days before toward the said House.

And it appearing to me by the said Depositions, that one of the said Men was about Twenty-two Years of Age, tall, and very slender, thin visag'd, ill favour'd, of a swarthy or Sun-burnt Complexion, wore an old hat, Check Shirt, Trowsers, and a black or very dark colour'd Bear-skin Waistcoat, had a Sore or Wound almost on the Inside of his right Thigh, a little above his Knee; that he carried a long Wallet stuffed very full, and a Bundle of darkish colour'd Clothes; that he produced a Pass sign'd by a Person who he said was a Justice of the Peace in Kent County in Maryland, wherein he was call'd Thomas Kelly; under which Pass was a Certificate, as it appear'd, that the said Person was one of the Justices in Kent County in Maryland, sign'd by the Clerk of the same County, and attested by that County Seal.

That another of the said Men appeared to be about Twenty-five Years of Age, of a very fair, but not a ruddy Complexion, round visag'd, of middle siz'd Stature, but thick and well proportioned, had his Hair cut off, wore a good Hat, a white Cap, and Waistcoat, a fine white Linnen Shirt, Check Trowsers, very wide, but not long, a Pair of good Shoes, and large Silver Buckles; that he produced a Pass, as from a Justice of the Peace, living in Kent County aforesaid, and a Discharge from his Master, in the same County; the Pass was dated the 16th of July, 1752; it was wrote with very pale Ink, except the Figures (16*th*) the Justice's Name, and the Words (Kent County, in Maryland) on the left Side of the Seal, at Bottom, which were all wrote with black Ink; the Seal thereto was only a round Mark, made with Ink, placed at the End of the Justice's Name.

That the third Man appear'd to be about Thirty or Thirty-five Years of Age, tall, but not very slender, of a dark Complexion, thin visag'd, with a sharp Nose, wore his Hair, and had a black Beard, walk'd bending forward, remarkably sticking out his Buttocks behind, and had an uncommon Kind of hobbling Gait; wore a Jerkin black, or very dark brown colour'd Waistcoat, a dark coloured Cloth or Handkerchief tied round one of his Legs, as if sore, and bluish Kind of grey Stockings; carried a Bundle of Clothes, in which was a Coat, on one Side of a brown, the other of a grey Colour, but the Colour of the Out or Inside particularly, was not remembered, and that by their Manner of pronouncing English, they all appeared to be Natives of Ireland.

These are therefore, in his Majesty's Name, to require and command the Magistrates, Sheriffs, Constables, and Officers of Justice within this Province, and other his said Majesty's Liege Subjects inquiring the same; and also to intreat all Governors of, and Magistrates, Officers, and Liege People residing in any of the neighbouring Provinces, to pursue and apprehend, or cause to be pursued and apprehended, the above described Persons, and them to secure, that they may be examin'd and dealt with according to Law.

GIVEN under my Hand, and the Great Seal of the said Province, at Philadelphia, the eighteenth Day of August, in the Year of our Lord One Thousand Seven Hundred and Fifty-two, and in the Twenty-sixth Year of his Majesty's Reign.

JAMES HAMILTON.

By his Honour's Command,
RICHARD PETERS, Secretary. GOD save the KING.

In Assembly, the 12th Day of the Month called August, 1752.

Resolved, That ONE HUNDRED and FIFTY POUNDS, current Money of this Province, be paid out of the Publick Treasury, as a Reward to any Person or Persons, who shall apprehend and secure the three Murderers of Eleanor Davis, and John Thomas, so that they may be brought to Justice; or FIFTY POUNDS per Head for any of them."

Copy from the Minutes,
WILLIAM FRANKLIN, Clerk of the Assembly.

From the WESTMINSTER JOURNAL, June 6.

PUBLICK AFFAIRS:

Or, The HISTORY of EUROPE, &c.

THERE is no other material Intelligence from the Northern Nations, than that the Marriage of the King of Denmark, with one of the Princesses of Brunswick Wolffenbuttle admits of no Manner of Doubt; and that his Danish Majesty has made Choice of the Princess Julia Maria, the Duke's youngest Sister.---Letters from Copenhagen also import, that the King of Denmark, in order to establish the Commerce of his Subjects in the Levant, has resolved to propose a Treaty to the Grand Signior, wherein the said Commerce will be the principal Object.-----It is generally believed, at the Danish Court, that the Jew Zombel will revive their Negociations with the Emperor of Morocco; at least, it is with this View, that the King has sent a new Frigate thither, which is to bring Lieutenant-Colonel Longueville, his Majesty insisting upon his Releasement, as Preliminary to any future Negociation.

It is reported, that the Negociations begun at divers Courts in Germany, in order to accelerate the Election of a King of the Romans, go on so successfully, that there is Room to hope the Electoral Diet may be convoked next Month: And that the Pretensions of certain Princes may be settled in such a Manner as to prove no Obstacle to, nor occasion any sensible Delay in, that Election, in favour of the Archduke Joseph. Which is a Choice, we are persuaded, will not only be agreeable to the Courts of Germany, but also to those of all Europe.----The Archduke Peter Leopold, who is five Years of Age, is taken out of the Care of the Ladies, and committed to that of Count Konigl, who is appointed his Governor.----The Empress Queen has assigned to her Subjects in Upper Austria, who have declared themselves Protestants, certain Districts in Moravia, where they may enjoy the free Exercise of their Religion; and, it is said, the same Liberty will be granted to such of the Protestants in Stiria, as shall be desirous to remove.----They have received very dismal Accounts at Vienna, of the Damage done by the late Storm in that Neighbourhood; and the Hail has destroyed all the Corn between Presbourg and Commorn.----An epidemical Distemper has lately broke out at Vernberg, a small Town near Amberg, in the Upper Palatinate; which greatly resembles the Plague; and a great Number of the Inhabitants of that Place have died of it in a very few Days.

The Master of a French Ship lately arrived at Leghorn, from the Coast of Barbary, reports, that the eldest Son of the Dey of Tunis has lately revolted against his Father, and held him besieged in the Castle of Barde; to which he forced him to fly, after defeating a Body of between 5 and 6000 of his Troops. By the same Ship there is Advice, that Mr. Stanyford, the English Consul at Algiers, died there the 19th of last Month, of an apoplectick Fit.

The Affairs of Corsica are in the same Situation; but the Differences between Mr. Grimaldi, Commissary-General of the Republick in that Kingdom, and the Marquis de Cursay, seem likely to be adjusted.---They have lately had a continued Rain, for three Days successively, at Parma, which, together with the melting of the Snow upon the neighbouring Mountains, occasioned the River Parma to rise so high, that all the Town of Colorno was overflowed; and about Midnight the alarm Bell was rung, to caution the Inhabitants to be upon their Guard, and take Care to secure the Dykes. By this Precaution the flat Country was preserved, but the Apartments on the Ground-floor of the Castle were filled with Water. It even reached the first Story, and the People in it with Difficulty escaped; but upon the Rain's ceasing the Water gradually fell, having done little other Damage than leaving a great deal of Mud in the Apartments. In order to preserve this Castle against the like Accident for the future, the Infant Duke is causing a new Dyke to be built along the River; for if it had rose but five Inches higher, it would have come all over the Dykes, and laid the whole City of Parma, and the Neighbourhood, under Water.

The Court of Madrid has received an Express from Ceuta, with the Advice of the Arrival there of four Men of War lately built at the Havanna; one of which is eighty Guns, one of sixty, and the others of 70 Guns each; which are all ordered to be fitted out immediately, probably to go in Pursuit of the Corsairs.---Agreeable to the Order of the Court, the two Frigates which are fitting out by the Merchants of Cadiz, will be reinforced by ten Xebeques, in order to rout the Barbary Corsairs; in the mean Time, Vice-Admiral Stuart, who is ready to sail with five Men of War, will go in search of the two famous Pirates Hadgi-Hoffman and Barba Negra, who have lately infested the Spanish Coasts; the former of whom commands a Kind of Man of War of sixty Guns, and the other a Frigate of Thirty-six.---An Express from Ceuta lately brought Advice, that Don Antonio de Mendoza, Commander of the Cavalry at that Place, going privately to the Mouth of the River of Tetuan with a small Party of Horse, and some Foot, surprised a Body of Moors, who guarded three Galliots from Morocco, with others from Tangiers, which were preparing to make a Descent; that the Moors, upon Sight of the Spanish Cavalry, retired towards their Ships, leaving about Thirty behind them, who were killed in their Retreat; and that their Companies took Advantage of the Interval, which the Spaniards employed in the Pursuit, to save themselves under the Cannon of their Castle, the Fire of which the Spaniards were exposed to for some Time.

The People of Paris generally hoped the Disputes between the Parliament and the Ecclesiasticks were in a fair Way of being happily appeas'd, when the King caused the Curate of Orleans to be arrested, and banish'd the Curate of St. Stephens du Mont; and that this Event would have been followed by other Regulations, which would have render'd to that August Body, the Parliament, the Lustre of its antient Authority; but they now begin to fear, that the Clergy, supported by the Bishop of Mirepoix, will get the Upper-hand, the Parliament apparently having no other on their Side, in the Council, than the Marquis d'Argenson, de St. Contest, and de Puysieux; the first, indeed, is a powerful Advocate; though 'tis further assured, that the Duke de Richlieu and Madame de Pompadour labour privately to traverse the Designs of the Bishop of Mirepoix, and the Archbishop of Paris. However, it is said the Difficulties which obstructed the Establishment of the new Commission for determining the Differences which arise about Religion, are remov'd; and that the King has appointed the following persons to compose it, viz. Cardinal de la Rochefoucault, Cardinal de Soubise, the Bishop of Laon, Mess. de Trudain, de la Granville, and the late Attorney-General.---Upon the Whole, the following is what is commonly said, by the Petit-maitres, and People who affect to know much. "The Disputes and mutual Conflicts of the Parliament and the Clergy, are of little or no Consequence, being mere Trifles. By a single Word of the Monarch, all Contests would be silenced. The Spirit of the French is never at rest, but invents Matter wherewith to exercise itself. No sooner does a foreign War end, than a domestick Controversy begins. An ecclesiastical War comes a propos to employ this busy Spirit, and to relieve it from its Lassitude. If the Sacrament had not been refused to the Abbe le Maire; if the Affair of Hospitals had not been brought upon the Carpet; if there had not been these Disputes, these Arrets, these Remonstrances, what would People have done? What would they have had to talk of at Paris?" This is the Language of their hair-brained young Fellows, and their ridiculous Commentaries upon the most serious, the most important Thing in the French Kingdom. In short, ought that to be treated as a little Matter, which is the Object of the Deliberations, Alarms, and Griefs of the most august Body of Men and who the best understand the Interest of the State? What Pains do they not take, what Endeavours do they not use, to take off the Bandage with which some People are desirous of covering the Eyes of the Monarch? So many Supplications, so many bold Steps, tell but too plainly the Apprehensions the Parliament are under. The Court disannuls their Arrets, and hearkens no more to them. They throw themselves at the Foot of the Throne; the Clergy repulses them, besets the Sovereign, and is going to give Law. The Inquisition shews itself by Degrees; if it should ever be established, what Unhappiness, what Revolutions would it not produce! no less than the Overthrow of the Monarchy, and the utter Confusion of all Order. These are the terrible, and perhaps too certain Consequences of the cruel Schism which tears the French in Pieces; of the audacious Enterprizes of their Ecclesiasticks; of the Credit which authorises them to act as they do; and of the Blindness of the Court.

Letters from Brussels, acquaint us how happily the Conferences, that have just been opened there, are carried on, and with the Unanimity which prevails amongst the Plenipotentiaries of this Congress; but these Letters are not capable of preventing many People from thinking that these Conferences will form a second Volume to those which are begun at Paris between Great-Britain and France, in order to settle the Limits of the Territories belonging to the two Nations in America, and to the Disputes which remain ever since the Treaty of Aix undetermined between the Ministers of France and those of the States-General. As in these Conferences there is principally to be considered the Execution of the Articles of the Barrier Treaty, upon which the Republick of the United Provinces strongly insists, People are very desirous to know in what Manner this interesting Point can be regulated to the Satisfaction of the Empress Queen and their High Mightinesses the States General, who, in case this Point should be settled upon the Footing it was heretofore, would be obliged directly to alter their Scheme of Oeconomy, by replacing the Troops they have just disbanded.----People are very attentive to the Conduct of the Court of Versailles, which appeared strongly inclined to have wriggled itself into this Treaty: and likewise to see how the King of Prussia and Elector Palatine will behave on this Occasion, in relation to certain worn-out Pretensions which these Princes are, we are told, desirous of reviving: But, whatever may happen, it is well known, that the Ministers of the Powers who have an immediate Concern in these Conferences, have precise Orders to set aside every Thing which is not relative to the Preliminaries, and not to stop at any Thing that may prolong the important Business which is the Object of their Assembly.

The Entertainment which Col. Yorke lately made at the Hague, on Account of the Installation of the Prince Stadtholder, was extremely magnificent; and there were present at it upwards of 150 Persons of both Sexes.

Paris A-la-main, June 2. The King having been informed that several Pamphlets and Prints have lately appeared, notwithstanding the repeated Prohibitions which his Majesty has caused to be published against writing or publishing any Thing reflecting upon the Regulations lately made by the Parliament, his Majesty has issued an Arret to suppress all such Prints and Pamphlets, under very severe Penalties against all Persons who shall be any ways concerned in printing, publishing, or dispersing them. Those who have any by them of what have been already published, are also enjoined to deliver them up immediately to the Registers of the Council. The Print which has been suppressed, represents an Altar like those which the Antients made their Sacrifices upon; on the Right Hand of which stands a Figure, with a Sword in one Hand, and the other resting upon the Altar, on which are represented the Mysteries of Religion, and over it a Dove with a Branch of Olive in its Beak. On the other Side of the Altar is represented the Figure of France, and that of a Magistrate; and at the Bottom of the Print is copied, at full Length, the Arret which the Parliament issued the 18th of April last, concerning the Refusal of the Sacraments.

LONDON.

May 26. The King of the Two Sicilies, who has shewn the utmost Satisfaction in regard to the Conduct of Don Joseph Martinex, who lately sunk an Algerine Xebeck, is not a little offended, that upon his being driven out to Sea, and obliged to put into Corfu, he was refused a Supply of Powder and Ball; of which, it is thought, his Majesty will complain to the Republick of Venice.

May 30. The 17th Instant N. S. they had a most dreadful Hurricane in the Neighbourhood of Kelheim, in Bavaria, which did a great deal of Damage to several Villages: Abundance of Cattle were found dead in the Fields, being kill'd by the Hail-stones, some of which weighed twelve Ounces.

Extract of a Letter from Paris, May 27.

'It was lately reported that the Earl of Albemarle, the British Ambassador here, would be charged with the Negotiation about the Neutral Islands, and the Limits between the two Crowns in North America; but that Report now appears to be groundless. The Negociation will be carried on in the same Manner it was begun; that is to say, the respective Commissaries will examine and decide the Points in Question. As for the British Commissaries, 'tis pretended they recently received Instructions of such a Nature as cannot fail of accelerating the Conclusion of these Affairs; but it is strongly suspected, that the French Commissaries have Instructions calculated for Procrastination, as the Situation of Affairs in Germany does not well admit of being in haste to terminate all Differences with England.'

According to a private Letter from Basil, in Switzerland, the French have actually encamp'd a considerable Body of Horse and Foot in the Neighbourhood of Besancon, in Franche Compte; upon which the Canton of Bern has taken the Alarm, and issued the necessary Orders for encamping the like Number of Troops in their own Territories; which, as is very natural, occasions many Speculations.

They write from Toulon, that the four Men of War which are to be sent out on a secret Expedition, fell down into the Road of that Harbour the 19th Instant, N. S. The Loire Flute arrived there the 12th from Rochefort, with 154 Pieces of Cannon for the Arsenal of Toulon, and was to put to Sea again in a few Days, in order to bring another Cargo of Artillery from Brest or Rochefort.

Last Tuesday two new Busses, built by Mr. Thomas Sewords, of Rochester, for the Society of the free British Fishery, arriv'd in the River. One of them is named the Hardwicke, in Honour of the the Lord Chancellor; and the other the Middlesex, in Honour of the Nobleman of that Name, Master of the Horse to the late Prince of Wales.

Last Tuesday Morning, his royal Highness the Duke of Cumberland reviewed the first Regiment of Foot-guards in Hyde-park; when his Highness gave the Words of Command himself, and seemed highly pleased at their Performance.

Extract of a private Letter from Lisbon, April, 27.

"The Armament we are preparing to dispossess the French on the Coast of Mozambique, consists in 600 regular, and 700 irregular Troops. The Government likewise sent some very able Engineers, together with a vast Quantity of Materials for Building, that, in case it shall be found necessary, they may be in a Condition to fortify the Mouth of the River Kilmane, and even to erect a Fortress for its Defence. It is confidently reported, that, upon repeated Applications from the Inhabitants of that Colony, his Majesty will detach it from the Government of the Viceroy of Goa, render it independent, and grant the People some new Privileges; by Means of which, it is hoped, they may extend their Trade with the neighbouring Nations the Blacks, who, it is very certain, have great Quantities of Gold, Silver, Copper, and Ivory, which they would be very glad to exchange for European Commodities."

We hear that the Merchants of New-England have resolved to open a Trade into Hudson's Bay, without any Regard to the Company, or their Charter; who, if they incline to try the Affair at Law, will, in such a Case, be obliged to prosecute. By this Means, their Right to an exclusive Trade, and the Monopoly of the Produce of that Country, will be contested; and probably either be confirmed or set aside.

Last Monday Morning a Parcel of Clothes and Masquerade Dresses, just landed from a Ship in the River, was seized; the Embroidery and Lace being of the French Manufacture.

The Ships from India have on board a large Quantity of Diamonds, of immense Value.

On the 20th Instant, the Shannon and Lowther, two Busses built at Whitehaven, for the Service of the Herring Fishery, with the Tender, sailed from thence for Shetland.

By the freshest Accounts from Naples it appears, that they must be cautious of engaging the Barbary Corsairs on equal Terms, the last Algerine Chebeck taken by them having made a most desperate Defence against two of theirs: The Fight began the 16th of April, and was maintained all that Day, and the next; by Cannonading at a Distance, the Sea being rough: The 18th being calm, great Execution was done; and the Day following, the Corsair having lost all his Masts, and the Ship being ready to sink, was forced to strike. The Neapolitans saved nothing out of her but the surviving Hands, the Anchors, and a little Rigging; the Guns were lost, as the Vessel went to the Bottom soon after she struck.

We hear that two of the Men of War fitting out are intended solely to protect the Fisheries on the Banks of Newfoundland.

Last Week several Boys were sent, to serve as Apprentices, on board the Society's Busses, lying in the River Thames. Some of them were put out by Parishes; others brought by their distressed Parents; and thus, probably, saved from Ruin; they are all to be cloathed in the like Uniform, and serve seven Years. They will be employed about six Months in the Shetland and Yarmouth Fisheries; and, the other Half-year, be on shore at Southwold, in Suffolk, where they will have a great Variety of Occupations, on occasion of the Busses, Nets, Casks, &c. The above Apprentices prove evidently, in Miniature, the great Advantages which will accrue to this Nation when their Numbers shall come to be very large; since every Boy, now taken by the Society from the Parish, is a Diminution of the Poor's Rates; and every such Boy, who serves his Time in the Society's Service, may be an Addition to our Naval Strength.

May 30. One Thomas Wilford, a young Fellow, but just turn'd of 17, and born only with one Arm, was committed to Newgate by Justice Fielding, for the Murder of his Wife, by giving her several Stabs, and cutting her Throat in such a Manner as almost to sever her Head from her Body. He confessed the Fact, and said that he had married this Woman on Wednesday last, that he had a very violent Love for her, and that Jealousy was the Motive to this rash Action.

"From several electrical Experiments performed by our most consummate Naturalists, in Pursuance of those by Mr. Franklin, in Philadelphia, to find whether the tonitruous and electrical Matter be not analogous; it appears, that to fix on the highest Part of Buildings, or Ships, sharp-pointed Iron-bars of 10 or 12 Feet, and gilt to prevent Rust, with a Wire hanging down on the Outside to the Ground, or about one of the Ship's Shrouds, is a Preservative against Thunder. The Sieur Dalibard having placed in a Garden at Marly, an Iron-bar on an electrical Body, at the Height of 40 Feet, was informed, that on the 10th of May, about 20 Minutes after Two, a Tempest passing over that Spot, the Parish Priest and other Persons drew from the Bar such Sparks and Agitations as are seen in the common electrical Performances. On the 18th the Sieur de Lor having fixed a Bar at the Height of 99 Feet, on a Cake of Rosin 2 Feet square, and 3 Inches thick, drew Coruscations from it during Half an Hour betwixt 4 and 5, whilst the Cloud was over it: These Scintillations were perfectly like those emitted by his Gun-barrel, when the Globe is rubbed only with the Brush, the same Fire, the same Crackling; whilst the Rain mixed with a little Hail, fell from the Cloud without any Lightning or Thunder, tho' it appeared to be the Progress of a Tempest which had happened elsewhere: Both these Experiments have been reported to the Royal Academy of Sciences, and both evince that Thunder Clouds may be deprived of their Fire, by Iron Bars fashioned and fixed as above."

June 1. Letters from Genoa advise, that the true Reasons of Mr. Grimaldi's Return out of Corsica was to acquaint the Government, that the French Commander in that Island receiv'd almost every Week Supplies of Men, Provision and Ammunition; so that in a little Time his Authority would depend solely upon this Gentleman's Courtesy.

Letters from Lisbon and Oporto bring Advice, that the French have sent thither such Quantities of Woollen Cloths and Stuffs, that there has been a Necessity for selling English Goods of the same Kinds Twenty per Cent. cheaper than they could well be afforded, otherwise they must have been brought back to England, or carried to some other Markets.

June 6. The last Letters from Madrid advise, that Mr. Keene has received Orders to reiterate his Complaints, on Occasion of the Insults and Depredations recently committed by the Spanish Guarda Costas in the West-Indies; and, at the same Time, to press the Spanish Court for the Conclusion of a new Treaty about Navigation in America.

Extract of a Letter from Deeping-market.

"On the 5th of last Month, about Seven a Clock in the Evening, we had a Water-spout fell from the Clouds on Deeping Fen, in the County of Lincoln, which took its Progress in a very indirect Manner to the Country Bank, whence every Thing that lay loose, such as Straw, Hay, and Stubble, was violently carried off by it. When it came into the Middle of Flowbit Wash, it was a dreadful Sight to behold this moving Meteor, spouting out Water to a considerable Height, perhaps two Yards, and all the Time attended with a terrible Noise. Upon the second Rout, it made to the River; on its Arrival there, it discovered its Length with some Certainty, for it reached from Side to Side, the River being about three Yards over. In its marching along, it drove the Water before it in a rapid Torrent, tearing, in its Passage, a Fishing-net. When it arrived at the Church it there stopped again, but not above a Minute, whence it arose, and made its Passage thro' the Space between the Church and the Parsonage-house, without doing Hurt to either. On its Departure thence, the Straw, Hay, and Stubble fell down upon the Land in Showers. This strange Phœnomenon ascended not far before it fell down again upon the Land. In passing through a small Tract of Seed Turnips, it broke, in its Way, the Stems from the Roots. A Gate it forced from off its Hinges, and a Stone it broke to Pieces; and now at a Distance it looked like a Pillar of Smoke. When it passed a little beyond Molton Chapel it evaporated into a Cloud, and was succeeded by a violent Storm of Hail, and after that of Rain."

A few Days past, at Providence, in this Colony, several People were detected in passing of Counterfeit Bills, in Imitation of the Sixteen Pounds, of the late Emission; and upon examining of them a Number of those Bills were found in their Custody: The Plate was cut by one Owen Sullivan, who suffered in Boston some time past for counterfeiting New-Hampshire Money; he is now in the Country with a great Quantity of the aforesaid Bills: Whoever shall apprehend said Sullivan will be well rewarded by this Government. Bucks County, to wit. ON the 15th Day of Auguſt, 1752, perſonally appeared before us, John Abraham Denormandie, and Alexander Graydon, Eſquires, two of his Majeſty's Juſtices of the Peace for ſaid County, James Adair, of the Falls townſhip, who being duly ſworn, &c. did declare and ſay, "That as he, this Deponent, was travelling in his Wagon, between Briſtol and his own Houſe, on Wedneſday, the 29th Day of July laſt, between the Hours of Five and Six a Clock of ſame Day, within about Half a Mile of his own Houſe, he came up with a Man on Horſeback, whoſe Name he afterwards learn'd to be Perot, who called to this Deponent, and begg'd him to unbind him, telling him he had been robb'd; this Deponent, ſuppoſing he only jeſted, replied, That perhaps he might charge him with the Robbery, if he unbound him; that upon this Deponent's aſking his Wife, who was with him, what he had beſt to do? for that he believed he was a Rogue, ſhe told him to do as he pleaſed; that this Deponent then went out of his Waggon, and found the ſaid Perot ſitting on his Horſe, with his Hands bound under his Hams with a Garter, which, ſaid Perot told him was his own Garter, wrapp'd ſeveral Times round his Wriſts, but without any Knot tied on it; that the Wriſts were ſwelled by the Tightneſs of the Binding: That the ſaid Perot, after he was unbound, ſeemed to be very weak and faint, or pretended to be ſo, and ſaid he could not ride; but by the Aſſiſtance of a Foot Traveller, who then come up, this Deponent helped the ſaid Perot into his Waggon, and carried him to his Houſe: That the ſaid Perot told this Deponent, that two Men on Horſeback, which ſaid Perot deſcribed, had robb'd him of between Thirty and Forty Piſtoles, Four Doubloons, and ſome Jewels and Necklaces, and that one of the Rogues had knocked him down from his Horſe, by a Blow on the Head, altho' this Deponent, upon Examination, could not diſcover any Sign of Hurt, Wound, or Bruiſe in the Place where ſaid Perot alledged he received the Blow. And this Deponent further ſaith, That on Wedneſday the 12th of this inſtant Auguſt, the ſaid Perot came to this Deponent's Houſe, and deſired him to go with him to Trenton, and declare before ſome Magiſtrate there, the Condition he had found the ſaid Perot in, on the 29th Day of July laſt; that accordingly this Deponent did go with him before Theophilus Severns, Eſq; in Trenton, where the ſaid Perot did write a Paper, which was read to this Deponent, but not ſo diſtinctly that he could ſufficiently apprehend the Meaning of it; and altho' this Deponent expreſſed an Unwillingneſs to ſign ſaid Paper, yet he was ſollicited ſo much that at length he was prevailed upon to ſign it, but refuſed to ſwear to it: That afterwards this Deponent being informed that he had been impoſed on, in ſigning ſaid Paper, he procured a Copy of the ſame, and now declares, That ſuch Part of the Contents of ſaid Paper which contradict this preſent Depoſition, to be entirely falſe; and further this Deponent ſaith not.
